HOPE FOR VOTE ON TAX BILL

CONSIDERATION OF MEASURES BLOCKED BY LENGTHY TALKS

Corporation And Surtax Questions Delayed Action.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—In the face of a lack of interest, that has nearly assumed filibuster proportions, administration leaders today were hoping against hope for a final vote in the senate before nightfall on the $203,000,000 tax reduction bill.

With enactment of the administration's bill assured through a Republican-Insurgent coalition, senators on both sides of the chamber blocked action on the bill after day by debating political subjects and making long speeches on topics other than taxation. The extraneous speeches, consuming hours of time, have prevented consideration of the corporation and surtax rates on four successive days.

Final action on the corporation and surtax rates will be followed by passage of the bill, as all other uncommitted rates are of minor importance or are not subject to partisan controversy. Although the Democrats have proposed heavier reductions of both these taxes, the coalition insured enactment of the administration's recommendations.

After two weeks of debate, only four controversial rates were fixed, although all new administrative features were determined. A number of other rates were approved because both Republicans and Democrats recommended the same reductions.

A table of the changes already agreed upon as compared to the present law and the house bill, follows:

Automobile tax: present law 3 per cent; house repealed; senate repealed; senate cut $65,000,000.

Admissions: present law 10 per cent; house $1 exemption; senate $3 exemption; senate cut $17,000,000.

Club dues: present law 10 per cent; house 5 per cent; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Stock sale: present law 2 cents per $100; house one cent; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Produce exchange: present law one cent; house repealed; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Corporation exemptions: present law $2,000; house inc to $3,000; senate same; senate cut $12,000,000.

Cereal beverages: present law 1-10th per cent; house repealed; senate repealed; senate cut $200,000.

Wines: present law higher than on spirits; house cut to spirits; senate same; senate cut $950,000.

These changes, so far as the senate bill is concerned, represent a total slash of $85,130,000. The administration plan also called for an $82,000,000 slash in corporation taxes, by reduction at the rate from 13-1/2 to 12-1/2 per cent, and a $25,000,000 reduction in surtaxes. The three amounts would total $202,130,000, or the total tax reduction agreed to by the administration and insurgent coalition.

The federal estate tax will remain unchanged. The insurgents joined the coalition on this condition, after Secretary of the Treasury Mellon recommended its repeal.

"The estate tax will be retained," said Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, finance leader. "I am certain of it."

LARGEST CLASS AT CAPITAL THIS YEAR

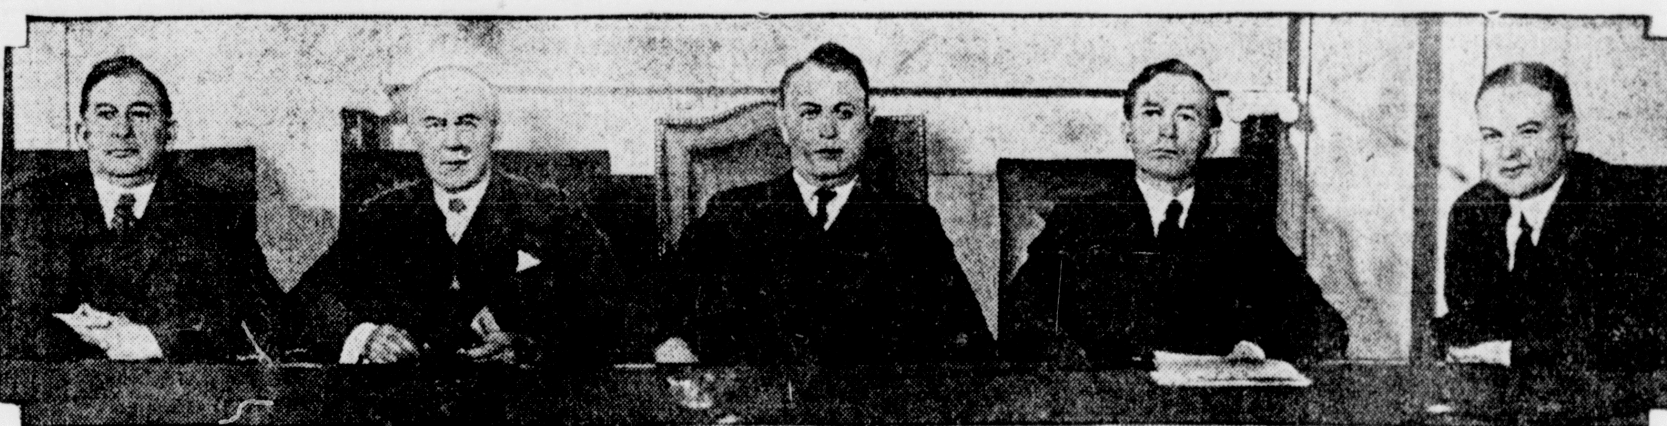

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Capital University at Columbus, O., will give diplomas to the largest number of graduates in its history at the exercises of the Sixty-Seventh Annual Commencement to be held from June 10 to 13. The college proper will graduate forty-six, the elementary normal school nineteen, the mission and church workers course two, the theological seminary twenty-five, and the conservatory of music, thirteen, making a total of one hundred and five.

Dr. Henry Doermann, recently chosen president of Toledo University, will deliver the commencement address. Dr. James Cooke, president of the Theodore Packer Foundation and Editor of "Educa," will speak at the dedication of the new Mees Conservatory of Music, to be held on June 12th. The new $250,000 Girls' Dormitory will be dedicated on June 10.

WINS ESSAY PRIZE

NEW YORK, May 12.—Miss Jane Considine, of Philadelphia, is winner of the national essay contest of the Catholic high schools of the United States. It was announced today by the Catholic World magazine, which conducted the contest. The subject of her essay was, "The Typology of Words." Second and third places were won, respectively, by Miss Maxine Kaiser and Miss Lydia Hermann, both of St. Paul, Minn.

PREMIER DEFENDS POLICY

JAP INTERVENTION VALUABLE TO OTHER COUNTRIES HE SAYS

Blames Communists; Japan Prepares To Mass Troops

TOKIO, May 12.—Japanese intervention in China is as valuable to America and European powers as it is to Japan," said Premier Tanaka this afternoon. The premier was on his way to attend a ministerial council to discuss the Tsinan situation and decide upon a future policy as the basis of negotiations with the Chinese.

"Japan," continued Baron Tanaka, "does not want to obstruct the military movements of the Chinese Nationalists. We are now hopeful of a diplomatic settlement."

"We believe that many more lives would have been lost if Japan had not intervened."

"It is clear that Communists are mingling with the southerners and that they were largely responsible for the Tsinan trouble. We regret to note that other Chinese leaders are engaging in anti-Japanese propaganda instead of seeking a mutual solution."

"Attention now turns to Peking and Tien-Tsin where Japan will cooperate with the foreign powers to prevent a repetition of the Tsinan fighting."

Japan is preparing to mass a powerful army of nearly 30,000 men in the Shantung Peninsula of China within the next fifteen days. It will be supported by a fleet of military airplanes and artillery.

Advices from Tsinan today reported the Tsinan district quiet.

Japanese troops holding Tsinan have established strong positions around the city as a precaution against counter attacks by the Chinese Nationalists.

War office officials are hopeful that there will be no further fighting. However, Japan is fully prepared to protect her nationals and Japanese-owned property in Shantung and elsewhere.

A powerful fleet of Japanese warcraft is lying off Tsinan, the port terminal of the Shantung-Tsinan railroad.

Chinese Nationalists under Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, formerly known as "The Christian general," who engaged in battle with the Japanese, have retired towards the northwest. There are thousands of Chinese prisoners in the hands of Gen. Fukuda's Japanese army.

There are indications that the Tsinan situation will be adjusted. Marshal Chiang Kai Shek, commander in chief of the Nationalist armies, has sent a "peace envoy" to Tsinan to consult with the Japanese.

HONOLULU, May 12.—The United States cruisers Milwaukee, Trenton and Memphis will sail for Chinese waters next Friday. They will replace other American warcraft now on guard duty.

DISSENSION BLOCKS BOULDER DAM BILL

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Dissension among house leaders today prevented consideration of the hard-fought Boulder Canyon dam and congressional re-apportionment measures while minor bills were given the legislative right-of-way.

With the legislative calendar a blank, the house rules committee called up a bill authorizing an appropriation to fight the pink worm in Texas and another to promote the White House physician from major to colonel.

The action of the committee was a stinging blow to backers of the Boulder Canyon dam. They had confidently looked forward to getting consideration on the measure, designed to protect the Imperial Valley of California from floods.

DIRIGIBLE ITALIA RETURNS TO KING'S BAY WHEN FOG IS STRUCK

OSLO, Norway, May 12.—The dirigible Italia remained in its hangar at King's Bay, Spitzbergen today while mechanics repaired one of its rear motors.

The motor was damaged while the ship was being put in its hangar after an eight hour flight yesterday. General Umberto Nobile, commander of the ship, encountered an impenetrable fog which rendered near observations impossible, and ordered a return to King's Bay a few hours after the start.

There was no intimation as to when a second start will be made, but it presumed Nobile will wait only for good weather conditions and the completion of repairs to the damaged motor.

DARROW CLAIMS VICTORY AS MONSIE JURY FAILS TO AGREE

JEFFERSON, O., May 12.—With James Monsie, alleged Warren, Ohio bootlegger, facing a fourth trial on charges of attempted bribery, Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney, has promised to return to defend Monsie when the date is set for re-trying of the case.

The jury in Monsie's third trial disagreed late Friday after ten hours deliberation.

The disagreement was considered by Darrow somewhat of a victory for Monsie, as twice previously the accused had been convicted on the same charge. However, the conviction was reversed on each occasion.

"Don't you suppose a lawyer is greatly gratified to know that he has at least forestalled defeat?" Darrow said, prior to leaving on an eastern trip.

Prosecutor L. B. Griffith said he would exhaust every resource to convict Monsie as we believe he is guilty.

Monsie was accused of tendering a $500 bribe to the wife of Sheriff J. H. Smith, of Trumbull County.

Although he said he did not expect to do any more courtroom work, Darrow in the same breath declared "I probably won't quit until I'm in my grave." The veteran lawyer is working on a new book and said he might return within a few months to northeastern Ohio, where he was born, to complete his writings.

BOYS' PHILOSOPHY DISCUSSED AT MEET

CHICAGO, May 12.—Development of a working philosophy for nearly a half million boys through the United States was the task of the national conference on boys' work of the Y. M. C. A., which opened for a three day session here today.

Questions to be considered by representatives from sixty sections of the country included:

In what way can the "gang" tendency of boys be utilized to direct them into constructive channels?

Does the social instinct generally lead, in youth, to mischief or to juvenile delinquency?

How can the condition of working boys be bettered?

High school youths, whose membership in clubs of the Y. M. C. A. numbers more than 100,000 in the United States, furnished one of the chief problems. Delegates were to attempt to formulate a system utilizing the natural tendencies of youth, for its own direction.

PEACE SOCIETY NOW IN SECOND CENTURY

CLEVELAND, May 12.—The second century of the American Peace Society officially began here today with a board of directors meeting to determine the policies and position in regard to resolutions adopted by the delegates from the floor of the world conference on international justice, sponsored by the society, Friday.

The society goes into its 101st year with high hopes for world peace becoming an actuality within the life-span of this generation. Started amid hoots and jeers 100 years ago, today the organization's goal was considered in sight by a majority of the delegates, with the peoples of the world crying for permanent peace and declaring that "war is no longer inevitable," through their representatives, who spoke during the unofficial and non-partisan sessions.

BLESSED STONE

ROME, May 12.—Pope Pius XI today blessed the corner stone of the new College of Propaganda.

REPORT DEMONSTRATIONS

GUATEMALA CITY, May 12.—Friction has become so acute between Honduras and Guatemala over their frontier dispute that anti-Guatemalan demonstrations were reported today from several districts of Honduras.

OHIO WINTER WHEAT ABANDONMENT TO BE LARGEST ON RECORD

Crop Report Shows 20,000,000 Bushel Loss Over 1927.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—The May 1 government crop report issued today further substantiates the reports that the largest percentage of abandonment of winter wheat ever recorded in Ohio will take place this spring.

The report also forecasts the smallest production of winter wheat, with one exception in over sixty years.

This report, as issued by G. S. Ray, of the federal crop reporting service, states that the growth of pastures and hay crops has also been very backward this spring.

Fruit prospects, it was said, are fairly good, very little frost damage having occurred.

Ohio farmers will market but 8,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, the report said. This forms a sharp contrast with the 28,000,000 bushels marketed last year.

Approximately 2,471,000 acres of winter wheat was planted last fall. Of this huge acreage, but about 840,000 acres remain for harvest, the report declared.

Where winter wheat remains for harvest, the condition of the crop varies considerably, the report continued. There are some instances where the only reason for letting poor wheat fields stand is to save the clover which has been seeded in these fields.

The 38,000 acres of rye remaining for harvest in Ohio this season lay 410,000 bushels against 560,000 bushels last year.

Growth of pastures this spring has been very slow, it was stated, due to cool weather. Pastures had an average condition of sixty-one on May 1, as compared with eighty-five one year ago.

Supply of farm labor is reported somewhat in excess of the demand. Stocks of hay on Ohio farms May 1 amounted to about 928,000 tons as compared with stocks of 517,000 tons one year ago. Through these figures indicate an increase Ray explained that no increase of hay crops was apparent. He said that the numbers indicate the supply now on hand. Whether the increased supply is due to poor marketing prices or lack of production outlets, Ray refused to say.

Farm hay (alfalfa, clover and timothy) meadows suffered considerable damage due to freezing weather during the past winter. Many fields of clover and alfalfa "heaved" badly. Unfavorable growing weather during most of the spring gave tame hay an average of sixty-five on May 1, as compared with eighty-five one year ago.

In concluding his report Ray summed up the condition of winter wheat, not only in Ohio but throughout the United States. The winter wheat forecast for the United States as of May 1 is 486,478,000 bushels, or 12 per cent less than the crop of 552,384,000 bushels produced in 1927.

Acreage planted to winter wheat in the United States last fall was over 41,000,000 acres, but the heavy abandonment reduced the acreage for harvest to 35,868,000.

BABY ABANDONED

DAYTON, O., May 12.—A baby girl only a few days old, dressed in silks and wrapped in an expensive woolen blanket, was found on the steps of the St. Elizabeth hospital by nurses early today.

EX-MAHARAJA H AND BRIDE TRAVEL IN STATE

PARIS, May 12.—Accompanied by a retinue of nine persons and baggage which included 205 trunks, the former Maharajah of Indore and his bride, the former Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle, arrived here at 7:30 this morning from Marseilles.

The bride, who preferred Oriental splendor and sumptuous existence as a Hindu princess to life of an ordinary American girl, and who now is called a Maharanee, was dressed in fanciful Hindu costume, fully bedecked with jewels.

The couple, whose marriage recently took the fancy of the world, will repair to the Maharajah's Chateau D'Indore, just outside St. Germain-en-Laye, near here, where they will spend the rest of their honeymoon. They arrived at Marseilles yesterday aboard the City of Baroda.

The bride's "gramma" Schaefer, a bespectacled, elderly lady, was with the party. She denied reports that the Maharanee was to undergo an operation.

REPUBLICANS HAVE MONTH TO PLAN MEETING

Hoover Leads Field With Many Dark Horses In His Wake

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, May 12.—One month from today, on June 12, the Republicans foregather at Kansas City to nominate a candidate for the presidency. Most of the 1929 delegates have been chosen. Only a handful of states are yet to elect their representatives for the quadrennial drama. Many of the delegates have been instructed or committed, but a survey of the field today disclosed that at Kansas City, as elsewhere in other years, the uninstructed and "doubtful" delegates hold the whip-hand.

A month before the curtain rises, Herbert Hoover is within striking distance of the nomination. He has by far the most committed delegates. The most reliable tabulation available in Washington gives him 380 as of today, and he probably can count upon eighty others from the friendly states of New Jersey, Texas, Alabama, Wyoming and Florida, which are still to act. But this leaves him still nearly 100 votes short of the 545 majority necessary to nominate.

Next in line is Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. The same table accords the grain belt candidate approximately 290 delegates. The balance of the field, made up of favorite sons and dark horses, are strung out far in the rear.

The big delegations from New York and Pennsylvania, controlling 169 votes between them, hold the whip-hand in the situation at present, and little doubt was expressed here today that these leaders, practical politicians all, are going to Kansas City one month from today with their whips intact.

Substantial confirmation of this is due in Philadelphia today when the seventy-nine delegates from the Keystone state meet for organization. W. L. Mellon, chairman of the Pennsylvania state committee, and nephew of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, has sent word to party leaders in the capital that the Pennsylvania bloc will go to Kansas City unfettered by instructions and unbound by promises.

They will not even be bound by a complimentary ballot for the secretary of the treasury, according to word reaching here, although this expedient may be resorted to in order to hold the delegation intact in the early balloting.

To some extent the same is true of New York's ninety delegates, although here the Hoover managers claim forty-seven votes outright. The opposition contends that the Hoover claim of forty-seven votes is excessive, but prospective of whether it is or not, many New York votes and a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation are necessary to nominate Hoover.

The next thirty days there will be considerable jockeying and conferring among the party leaders and the candidates' managers. It may even be that the nominee will be settled within the span of time through agreement or coalition. Present indications are, however, that such will not be the case, and that the convention will go into the convention with the issue still in doubt and New York and Pennsylvania sitting in the saddle.

OFFER REWARD FOR OHIO BANK BANDITS

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—With a reward of $2,000 offered for the capture, dead or alive, of the two bandits who robbed the Clintonville branch of the Citizens Trust and Savings Bank at noon yesterday of $4,941, little progress towards their capture had been made this morning, according to the Franklin County sheriff.

Police throughout the state were searching for the bandits, descriptions having been telegraphed to sheriffs and police departments in all directions from Columbus a few minutes after the robbery.

Two suspects were arrested near Delaware last night but they were released.

MARION RECORDER HAS DISAPPEARED

MARION, O., May 12.—State examiners were today checking records of the Marion County recorder's office following the disappearance of Recorder Charles E. Smith, 26, on April 29. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Smith, have been making efforts to find him without success.

Smith, only 22 when elected to office, was to have been married this summer. His father said he believed a nervous breakdown from overwork caused his son to leave for a rest. He was serving in his second term of office.

ARMY PLANES LEAVE TO BRING BREMEN BACK TO CIVILIZATION

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., May 12.—Two army amphibian biplanes, sent by the war department to Greenely Island to aid in bringing the transatlantic monoplane Bremen back to civilization, took off at 9:18 o'clock this morning. Both planes had arrived at Miller Field, Staten Island, from Bolling Field, Washington, at 6:30 a. m. and had hopped to Mitchell Field. The next scheduled stop is Portland, Me.

One of the planes was piloted by Captain Ira C. Eaker, and carried Fred Melchior, chief pilot of the Junkers Company in America, as a passenger. Melchior plans to land at Greenely Island, either by plane or, if that is impossible by parachute and fly the Bremen from the island. The Bremen has been stalled on Greenely Island where it was damaged somewhat when the three musketeers of the air, Koehl, Fitzmaurice and Von Huenefeld landed after their dramatic trans-Atlantic jump.

The other plane which left simultaneously from here this morning was piloted by Lieut. Muir W. Fairchild. Its passenger was Major General James E. Pecheat, chief of the air corps U. S. army.

Shooting Mystery

Jacob H. Hanson, secretary of the Elks lodge of Niagara Falls, N. Y., whose probable fatal shooting by two coast guardsmen may result in a U. S. senate investigation, said, during a brief moment of consciousness, that he had seen a man with a gun in front of his car and tried to get away.

Officials believe the guardsmen mistook him for a liquor runner.

FIVE INJURED WHEN MADDENED HUSBAND STARTS GUN BATTLE

Attacks Wife's Folks When She Refuses To Return Home

CAMBRIDGE, O., May 12.—Three persons, critically injured, and two others less seriously injured, were in the local hospital here today undergoing treatment for possible fatal wounds sustained in a gun battle, the result of a family feud near here yesterday.

The injured—Andrew Anderson, 54, shot twice in body, once in neck and shoulder probably will die; Mrs. Eva Valentine, 30, his daughter, wounded twice in body, believed to be dying; Mrs. W. H. Osborne, 26, another daughter, shot in left breast and arm, believed fatally wounded; W. H. Osborne, her husband, 26, shot in leg; and Earl Valentine, 30, shot in face, neck and back.

According to facts correlated after police investigation, Earl Valentine and his wife, Eva, separated after a family argument. Mrs. Anderson, eight miles east of here, four days ago.

Yesterday, Valentine appeared at the Anderson home, armed with an automatic revolver, demanding his wife return home with him. Anderson, however, denied his son-in-law admittance, and in the ensuing argument, it is said, Valentine opened fire, wounding Anderson four times.

Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Osborne, in the house at the time, heard the shots and ran to the door where, reports state, they were shot down by Valentine.

Osborne then armed himself with a shotgun, police were told, and raced to the door, firing both barrels into Valentine, who, as he fell, fired at Osborne, the bullet striking him in the leg.

He then threw his body into the river, he testified, after becoming frantic with fear. Her body was found seven weeks later.

An autopsy by Coroner J. F. Lewis upon the body of the girl was said to have corroborated Heron's statement that the girl did not die of suffocation.

WILL BURY THOMAS AT HOME IN KANSAS

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 12.—The body of Lieutenant Royal W. Thomas, U. S. Army, reserve aviator who crashed to his death last Wednesday in his Bellanca monoplane, the Reliance, at Teterboro Airport, was to be sent from Hill's undertaking parlors here today to the home of the aviator's parents in McLeath, Kansas.

Arrangements were made here by R. E. Ewert, an uncle, who will accompany the body. Funeral services will be held in McLeath on arrival and the interment will be in the family plot there.

INDIAN PERFORMER IN CIRCUS IS ILL

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—While John Holybear, 68, Indiana performer of the 101 Ranch Circus, was quietly resting in St. Francis Hospital here recovering from a hemorrhage suffered yesterday, the circus itself was enroute for Zanesville, where it will put on its next performance.

The Indian performer suffered a hemorrhage yesterday afternoon and was taken by police to St. Francis Hospital. After making arrangements for his hospital expenses, the circus departed for Zanesville by the way of Newark over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

SEVEN OTHERS ARE BELIEVED FATALLY HURT

Others Injured In Explosion In Kokomo Laundry

KOKOMO, Ind., May 12.—Five women were instantly killed, seven other persons probably will die and others were injured in an explosion at the Fridlin Laundry here today.

Windows were shattered and tracks of the Union Traction Company were torn up by the force of the explosion, which occurred in the steam pressing department as workers were at their places.

SLAYER CONVICTED OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER BY JURORS

Will Face Sentence Of Life In Death Of Sister-In-Law.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 12.—William Herron, alleged murderer of his sister-in-law, Miss Viola May, 23, on a lonely automobile ride on the night of February 7, today faced life imprisonment following a verdict of a common pleas court jury last night, finding him guilty of murder in the second degree. He will be sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Eli E. Lind, say, either today or early next week.

The jury returned the second degree murder verdict after deliberating five hours. The twelve men and women retired at 4:45 and returned at 10:20 last night. Herron heard the verdict with calmness and without visible signs of emotion.

No appeal will be taken, it was indicated by Henry Bowers, senior defense counsel for Herron. The second degree murder verdict carries with it a sentence of life imprisonment.

Herron was alleged to have slain Miss May during the course of an argument over his attentions to her on a lonely automobile ride on the night of February 7. Herron, earlier in the evening, started to take Miss May and her chum, Miss Evelyn Fretz, home after they visited with his wife. He and Miss May went riding after taking Miss Fretz home.

The state alleged that Herron choked Miss May to death after she resisted his advances. Herron claimed that he had been intimate with her and that during a quarrel in which she threatened to tell his wife, he pushed her from him and she slipped into the seat of his automobile, dead. He threw her body into the river, he testified, after becoming frantic with fear. Her body was found seven weeks later.

An autopsy by Coroner J. F. Lewis upon the body of the girl was said to have corroborated Herron's statement that the girl did not die of suffocation.

HOPE FOR VOTE ON TAX BILL

CONSIDERATION OF MEASURES BLOCKED BY LENGTHY TALKS

Corporation And Surtax Questions Delayed Action.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—In the face of a lack of interest, that has nearly assumed filibuster proportions, administration leaders today were hoping against hope for a final vote in the senate before nightfall on the $203,000,000 tax reduction bill.

With enactment of the administration's bill assured through a Republican-insurgent coalition, senators on both sides of the chamber blocked action on the bill day after day by debating political subjects and making long speeches on topics other than taxation. The extraneous speeches, consuming hours of time, have prevented consideration of the corporation and surtax rates on four successive days.

Final action on the corporation and surtax rates will be followed by passage of the bill, as all other undetermined rates are of minor importance or are not subject to partisan controversy. Although the Democrats have proposed heavy reductions of both these taxes, the coalition insured enactment of the administration's recommendations.

After two weeks of debate, only four controversial rates were determined. A number of other rates were approved because both Republicans and Democrats recommended the same reductions.

A table of the changes already agreed upon as compared to the present law and the house bill, follows:

Automobile tax: present law 3 per cent; house repealed; senate repealed; senate cut $65,000,000.

Admissions: present law 10 per cent; house $1 exemption; senate $3 exemption; senate cut $17,000,000.

Club dues: present law 10 per cent; house 5 per cent; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Stock sale: present law 2 cents per $100; house one cent; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Produce exchange: present law one cent; house repealed; senate present rate; senate cut none.

Corporation exemptions: present law $2,000; house inc. to $3,000; senate same; senate cut $12,000,000.

Cereal beverages: present law 1-10th per cent; house repealed; senate repealed; senate cut $200,000.

Wines: present law higher than on spirits; house cut to spirits; senate same; senate cut $930,000.

These changes, so far as the senate bill is concerned, represent a total slash of $95,130,000. The administration plan also called for an $82,000,000 slash in corporation taxes by reduction at the rate from 12 to 12 1/2 per cent, and a $25,000,000 reduction in surtaxes. The three amounts would total $202,130,000, or the total tax reduction agreed to by the administration and insurgent coalition.

The federal estate tax will remain unchanged. The insurgents joined the coalition on this condition, after Secretary of the Treasury Mellon recommended its repeal.

"The estate tax will be retained," said Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, finance leader. "I am certain of it."

OHIO WINTER WHEAT ABANDONMENT TO BE LARGEST ON RECORD

Crop Report Shows 20-000,000 Bushel Loss Over 1927.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—The May 1 government crop report issued today further substantiates the reports that the largest percentage of abandonment of winter wheat ever recorded in Ohio will take place this spring. The report also forecasts the smallest production of winter wheat, with one exception in over sixty years.

This report, as issued by G. S. Ray, of the federal crop reporting service, states that the growth of pastures and hay crops has also been very backward this spring.

Fruit prospects, it was said, are fairly good, very little frost damage having occurred.

Ohio farmers will market but 8,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, the report said. This forms a sharp contrast with the 28,000,000 bushels marketed last year.

Approximately 2,471,000 acres of winter wheat was planted last fall. Of this huge acreage, but about 840,000 acres remain for harvest, the report declared.

Where winter wheat remains for harvest, the condition of the crop varies considerably, the report continued. There are some instances where the only reason for letting poor wheat fields stand is to save the clover which has been seeded in these fields.

The 38,000 acres of rye remaining for harvest in Ohio this season gave promise on May 1, of producing 410,000 bushels against 560,000 bushels last year.

Growth of pastures this spring has been very slow, it was stated, due to cool weather. Pastures had an average condition of sixty-one on May 1, as compared with eighty-five one year ago.

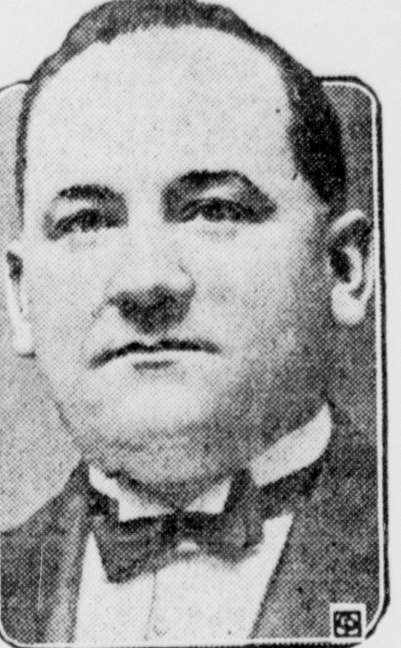

Supply of farm labor is reported somewhat in excess of the demand. Stocks of hay and clover are low. The report said that about 928,000 tons as compared with stocks of 517,000 tons one year ago. Though these figures indicate an increase Ray explained that no increase of hay crops was apparent. He said that the numbers indicate the supply now on hand. Whether the increased supply is due to poor marketing prices or lack of production outlets, Ray refused to say.

Tame hay, (alfalfa, clover and timothy) meadows suffered considerable damage due to freezing weather during the past winter. Many fields of clover and alfalfa "heaved" badly. Unfavorable growing weather during most of the spring gave tame hay an average of sixty-five on May 1, as compared with eighty-five one year ago.

In concluding his report Ray summed up the condition of winter wheat, not only in Ohio but throughout the United States. This winter wheat forecast for the United States as of May 1 is 486,478,000 bushels, or 12 per cent less than the crop of 552,384,000 bushels produced in 1927.

Acreage planted to winter wheat in the United States last fall was over 47,000,000 acres, but the heavy abandonment reduced the acreage for harvest to 35,868,000.

Shooting Mystery

Jacob H. Hanson, secretary of the Elks lodge of Niagara Falls, N. Y., whose probable fatal shooting by two coast guardsmen may result in a U. S. senate investigation, said, during a brief moment of consciousness, that he had seen a man with a gun in front of his car and tried to get away. Officials believe the guardsmen mistook him for a liquor runner.

FIVE INJURED WHEN MADDENED HUSBAND STARTS GUN BATTLE

Attacks Wife's Folks When She Refuses To Return Home

CAMBRIDGE, O., May 12.—Three persons, critically injured, and two others less seriously injured, were in the local hospital here today undergoing treatment for possible fatal wounds sustained in a gun battle, the result of a family feud near here yesterday.

The injured: Andrew Anderson, 54, shot twice in body, once in neck and shoulder probably will die; Mrs. Eva Valentine, 30, his daughter, wounded twice in body, believed to be dying; Mrs. W. H. Osborne, 26, another daughter, shot in left breast and arm, believed fatally wounded; W. H. Osborne, her husband, 26, shot in leg, and Earl Valentine, 30, shot in face, neck and back.

According to facts correlated after police investigation, Earl Valentine and his wife, Eva, separated after a family argument. Mrs. Anderson after a family argument, Mrs. home, eight miles east of here, four days ago.

Yesterday, Valentine appeared at the Anderson home, armed with an automatic revolver, making his wife return home with him. Anderson, however, denied his son-in-law admittance, and in the ensuing argument, it is said, Valentine opened fire, wounding Anderson four times.

Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Osborne, in the house at the time, separated after the shooting. Valentine, reports state, they were shot down by Valentine.

Osborne then armed himself with a shotgun, police were told, and raced to the door, firing both barrels into Valentine, who, as he fell, fired at Osborne, the bullet striking him in the leg.

MARION RECORDER HAS DISAPPEARED

MARION, O., May 12.—State examiners were today checking records of the Marion County recorder's office following the disappearance of Recorder Charles E. Smith, 26, on April 29. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Smith, have been making efforts to find him without success.

Smith, only 22 when elected to office, was to have been married this summer. His father said he believed a nervous breakdown from overwork caused his son to leave for a rest. He was serving in his second term of office.

planes had arrived at Miller Field, Staten Island, from Bolling Field, Washington, at 6:30 a. m. and had hoped to Mitchell Field. The next scheduled stop is Portland, Me.

One of the planes was piloted by Captain Ira C. Eaker, and carried Fred Melchior, chief pilot of the Junkers Company in America, as a passenger. Melchior plans to land at Greenly Island, either by plane or, if that is impossible by parachute and fly the Bremen from the island. The Bremen has been stalled on Greenly Island where it was damaged somewhat when the three musketeers of the air, Koehl, Fitzmaurice and Von Huenefeld landed after their dramatic trans-Atlantic jump.

The other plane which left simultaneously from here this morning was piloted by Lieut. Muir W. Fairchild. Its passenger was Major General James E. Pecheur, chief of the air corps, U. S. army.

SEVEN OTHERS ARE BELIEVED FATALLY HURT

Others Injured In Explosion In Kokomo Laundry

KOKOMO, Ind., May 12.—Five women were instantly killed, seven other persons probably will die and others were injured in an explosion at the Fridlin Laundry here today.

Windows were shattered and tracks of the Union Traction Company were torn up by the force of the explosion, which occurred in the steam pressing department as workers were at their places.

SLAYER CONVICTED OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER BY JURORS

Will Face Sentence Of Life In Death Of Sister-In-Law.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 12.—William Herron, alleged murderer of his sister-in-law, Miss Viola May, 23, on a lonely automobile ride on the night of February 7, today faced life imprisonment following a verdict of a common pleas court jury last night, finding him guilty of murder in the second degree.

He will be sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Eli E. Lind, say, either today or early next week.

The jury returned the second degree murder verdict after deliberating five hours. The twelve men and women retired at 4:45 and returned at 10:20 last night. Herron heard the verdict with calmness and without visible signs of emotion.

No appeal will be taken, it was indicated by Henry Bowen, senior defense counsel for Herron. The verdict of murder carries with it a sentence of life imprisonment.

Herron was alleged to have slain Miss May during the course of an argument over his attentions to her on a lonely automobile ride on the night of February 7. Herron, earlier in the evening, started to take Miss May and her chum, Miss Evelyn Fretz, home after they visited with his wife. He and Miss May went riding after taking Miss Fretz home.

The state alleges Herron choked Miss May to death after she resisted his advances. Herron claimed that he had been intimate with her and that during a quarrel in which she threatened to tell his wife, he pushed her from him and she slumped into the seat of his automobile, dead. He threw her body into the river, he testified, after becoming frantic with fear. Her body was found seven weeks later.

An autopsy by Coroner J. F. Lewis upon the body of the girl was said to have corroborated Herron's statement that the girl did not die of suffocation.

WILL BURY THOMAS AT HOME IN KANSAS

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 12.—The body of Lieutenant Royal W. Thomas, U. S. Army reserve aviator who crashed to his death last Wednesday in his Bellanca monoplane, the Reliance, at Teterboro Airport, was to be sent from Hill's undertaking parlors here today to the home of the aviator's parents in McLouth, Kansas.

Arrangements were made here by R. E. Ewert, an uncle, who will accompany the body. Funeral services will be held in McLouth on arrival and the interment will be in the family plot there.

INDIAN PERFORMER IN CIRCUS IS ILL

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—While John Holybear, 68, Indiana performer of the 101 Ranch Circus, was quietly resting in St. Francis Hospital here recovering from a hemorrhage suffered yesterday, the circus itself was enroute for Zanesville, where it will put on its next performance.

The Indian suffered a hemorrhage yesterday afternoon and was taken by police to St. Francis Hospital. After making arrangements for his hospital expenses, the circus departed for Zanesville by the way of Newark over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

LARGEST CLASS AT CAPITAL THIS YEAR

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Capital University at Columbus, O., will give diplomas to the largest number of graduates in its history at the exercises of the Sixty-Seventh Annual Commencement to be held from June 10 to 13. The college proper will graduate forty-six, the elementary normal school nineteen, the mission and church workers course two, the theological seminary twenty-five, and the conservatory of music, thirteen, making a total of one hundred and fifty.

Dr. Henry Doermann, recently chosen president of Toledo University, will deliver the commencement address. Dr. James Cooke, president of the Theodore Presser Foundation and Editor of "Etude," will speak at the dedication of the new Mess Conservatory of Music to be held on June 12th. The new $250,000 Girls' Dormitory will be dedicated on June 10.

WINS ESSAY PRIZE

NEW YORK, May 12.—Miss Jane Considine, of Philadelphia, is winner of the national essay contest of the Catholic high schools of the United States. It was announced today by the Catholic World magazine, which conducted the contest, the subject of her essay was, "The Typology of Words." Second and third places were won, respectively, by Miss Maxine Kaiser and Miss Lydia Hermann, both of St. Paul, Minn.

DISSENSION BLOCKS BOULDER DAM BILL

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Dissension among house leaders today prevented consideration of the hard-fought Boulder Canyon dam and congressional re-apportionment measures while minor bills were given the legislative right-of-way.

With the legislative calendar a blank, the house rules committee called up a bill authorizing an appropriation to fight the pink bollworm in Texas and another to promote the White House physician from major to colonel.

The action of the committee was a stinging blow to backers of the Swing-Johnson bill for the building of Boulder Canyon dam. They had confidently looked forward to getting consideration on the measure, designed to protect the Imperial Valley of California from floods.

PEACE SOCIETY NOW IN SECOND CENTURY

CLEVELAND, May 12.—The second century of the American Peace Society officially began here today with a board of directors meeting to determine the policies and position in regard to resolutions adopted by the delegates from the floor of the world conference on international justice, sponsored by the society, Friday.

The society goes into its 101st year with high hopes for world peace becoming an actuality within the life-span of this generation. Started amid hoots and jeers 100 years ago, today the organization's goal was considered in sight by a majority of the delegates, with the peoples of the world crying for permanent peace and declaring that "war is no longer inevitable," through their representatives, who spoke during the unofficial and non-partisan sessions.

BLESSES STONE

ROME, May 12.—Pope Pius XI today blessed the corner stone of the new College of Propaganda.

REPORT DEMONSTRATIONS

GUATEMALA CITY, May 12.—Friction has become so acute between Honduras and Guatemala over their frontier dispute that anti-Guatemalan demonstrations were reported today from several districts of Honduras.

EX-MAHARAJA H AND BRIDE TRAVEL IN STATE

PARIS, May 12.—Accompanied by a retinue of nine persons and baggage which included 205 trunks, the former Maharajah of Indore and his bride, the former Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle, arrived here at 7:30 this morning from Marseilles. The bride, who preferred Oriental splendor and sumptuous existence as a Hindu princess to life of an ordinary American girl, and who now is called a Maharanee, was dressed in fanciful Hindu costume, fully bedecked with jewels.

The couple, whose marriage recently took the fancy of the world, will repair to the Maharajah's Chateau d'Heane

ARMY PLANES LEAVE TO BRING BREMEN BACK TO CIVILIZATION

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., May 12.—Two army amphibian biplanes, sent by the war department to Greenly Island to aid in bringing the transatlantic monoplane Bremen back to civilization, took off at 9:18 o'clock this morning. Both planes had arrived at Miller Field, Staten Island, from Bolling Field, Washington, at 6:30 a. m. and had hoped to Mitchell Field. The next scheduled stop is Portland, Me.

One of the planes was piloted by Captain Ira C. Eaker, and carried Fred Melchior, chief pilot of the Junkers Company in America, as a passenger. Melchior plans to land at Greenly Island, either by plane or, if that is impossible by parachute and fly the Bremen from the island. MRS. HINCHCLIFFE FINDS HOPE BUOYED BY GERMAN SUCCESS

LONDON, May 12.—The safe landing of the transatlantic Bremen at Greenly Island after its flight across the ocean from east to west, has revived the hopes of Mrs. Walter Hinchcliffe, that her husband, who recently attempted a similar flight with the Hon. Elsie Mackay, may still be safe.

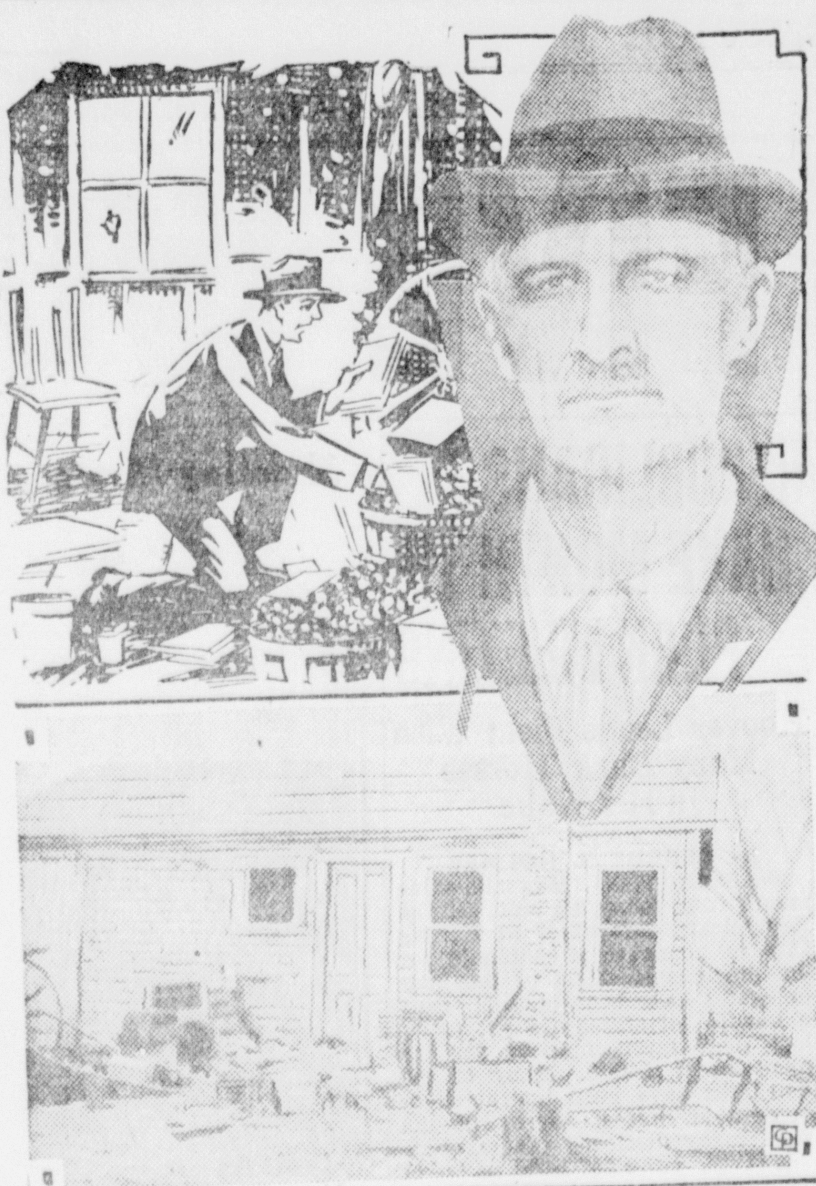

As soon as she received the news of the German plane's safe arrival, she sent a wire to the Governor-General of Ottawa, asking that 120 search for her husband be continued and extended. In an interview she declared:

"The landing position of the German flier, who followed the same route as proposed by Captain Hinchcliffe, confirms my opinion and also the statement made by him before the flight, that if so land were sighted after a certain time he would navigate northwest.

"The German flier probably did likewise. Therefore, Labrador or East Quebec is the most likely country in which to search for the Endeavor. I have asked the Canadian government to tell me just to what extent these areas have been searched."

Mrs. Hinchcliffe expressed the belief that her husband and his companion may have safely landed near an outpost of civilization and that they are being cared for by Eskimos. She is living in the hope that word may come from them when the snows clear two months hence.

DISCOVERY STIRS MONEY HUNT

Shack where treasure was found and above, right, Martin Corey, who made first discovery.

By JOSEPH S. WARD, Jr.

GREENWICH, Mass., May 12.—A treasure hunt, in which rubbish heaps gave up handfuls of greenbacks, and piles of decaying vegetables proved to conceal a fortune in stocks and bonds, has given this town a nightmare. Not since the days of Captain Kidd has there been such a furore.

The cause of it all was a ragged peddler, George E. Phillips, who dragged through a wretched existence in misery and filth. Arriving at the scriptural three-score and ten, he passed away in equal and solitude, the body to be found some time later.

Lived in Wretchedness Those who found the body were amazed at the wretchedness of the scene. The man's body was a pile of old coats, flung over bare steel springs, and his pillow was a bag of sprouting onions. The ramshackle dwelling had just two rooms, in one of which the human being lived; the other housed his two horses.

Dirt covered everything. A casual visitor, Martin Corey, of Prescott, Mass., peered among seventy-five bushels of rotting onions heaped against the inner walls of the old man's room. Some strangely embossed papers appeared. On examination, they proved to be stocks and bonds of high value, worth several thousand dollars.

This discovery prompted other dwellers to rush to the scene and join in the hunt. Several baskets of waste paper produced hundreds of dollars in checks, all contained in unopened registered letters — monthly dividends. The dirt of the floor gave up other valuables, until after several days of search, $50,000 had been disclosed. Search.

LIBRARY BRANCH AT BOWERSVILLE OPEN

The sixth branch of the Greene County District Library has just been opened with headquarters in the store of L. W. Linton, Bowersville.

Several sections of book shelving were built by the local boys in the manual training department at the Jefferson Twp. High School, after the local garage had agreed to supply the necessary lumber. These shelves now house a collection of between 200 and 300 books of all sorts.

The branch is fully equipped for service and all county residents who find it accessible are urged to make use of the books placed in the village for their use. The books may be drawn at any time that the store is open, which means any week day, from early in the morning until late at night.

THIRD CANDIDATE IN COMMISSION FIGHT

That there will be a contest for seats on the board of county commissioners was assured Saturday when John A. North, Xenia business man and former commissioner, made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination in August.

Two vacancies will occur at the end of this year with the completion of the terms of J. Harve Lackey and A. E. Beam. Both will be candidates to succeed themselves on the board and with the filing of the third candidate a race is certain. The term of Herman Exley, third member, does not expire this year.

Mr. North served one term as county commissioner during the period when terms were lengthened from two to four years and because of the transition period he served only three years and four months. His term expired four years ago.

MADE CHAIRMAN OF CLUB COMMITTEE

Dr. A. B. Kester has been appointed chairman of the tournament committee at the Xenia Country Club for the coming season. It is announced, A. H. Finley was also named a member of the committee.

The principal duty of the chairman will be to arrange various forms of golf tournaments and probably several inter-city matches.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. AMANDA MARSHALL

Mrs. Amanda Jane Marshall, 72, widow of James B. Marshall, died at her home, 10 S. Galloway St., at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon from heart trouble and a complication of ailments.

Born in Xenia in September, 1855, practically her entire life was spent in this city.

Mrs. Marshall's health began to decline two years ago and her condition became serious during the last six months.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Nellie Gill, near Jamestown, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna S. Melville, Springfield, O., and Mrs. Emma Eyer, Xenia.

Mrs. Marshall was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

WILBERFORCE

Rev. S. D. Callman of Wilmington, O., visited the school Wednesday.

Mrs. William H. Carter, after a month's visit with her daughter, Miss Roberta, returned to Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Monday.

Mr. Nelson Winslow of Columbus, interested in the Hoover campaign, was mingling among his many friends on the campus.

Mr. J. R. Highman, general superintendent of construction of the state architect's office, Columbus, was looking after state property Wednesday.

In keeping with Governor Vic Donahey's "Mother's Day" proclamation, Sunday 13, a program suitable to pay respect that "every mother may be compensated by token of appreciation and love for her sacrifice and services," will be given in Jones Auditorium Sunday morning. Rev. Belbolden of Dayton will be the speaker.

Mrs. O. W. Calmes, of Cincinnati, grand president of Grand Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, was the guest of the "sorors" of Beta and Delta Sigma Chapters, Sunday.

Mrs. J. Aubrey Lane attended the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Belle Kenley of Chicago, in Middletown, Ohio, Tuesday.

Rev. L. C. Ridley of Trinity A. M. E. Church held services in Aker St. A. M. E. Church in Dayton, Sunday morning and Dr. H. H. Summers of Payne Seminary served for Rev. Ridley in Trinity A. M. E. Church.

Miss Hallie Q. Brown attended the Ohio Council of Republican women in Columbus, Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Janet Whitaker of Stone School and Miss Luberta Moore of Cincinnati motored to Wilberforce and attended the Beta and Delta-Sigma of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority May Week Program Sunday evening.

Mr. Rush Manual on his return to Cleveland from a trip in the South stopped off between trains and spent Sunday with friends.

Dean Geo. F. Woodson, President G. H. Jones, Prof. Chas. Johnson and Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Ridley left Sunday night for Chicago to attend the General Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith motored from Huntington, W. Va., Monday and left Tuesday morning for Chicago.

Mr. Lloyd Lewis, Commercial, 1923, director of commercial education in one of the high schools in Indianapolis, Ind., called to Xenia by the death of Mrs. Singer, spent a few hours in the community Tuesday evening.

Dr. Silas Alexander and Miss Inez Walker of Columbus, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jenkins.

Sunday evening the students and citizens were given an opportunity to enjoy two very creditable and interesting programs given by different sororities in Jones Auditorium. At 6:30 the Alpha Chapter of Gamma Kappa Phi Junior Sorority presented its annual program. This sorority has a membership of thirty-three young women who are taking college grade work. The officers are Bessie Oden, Venus; Vivian Fletcher, Juno; Olive Powell, Delphi; Wanda Lewis, Ceres; Mary Mason, Ilb; Mercedes Seward, Diana; Edith Glover, Vesia and Clara B. Griffin, Minerva. The speaker of the evening was Leonora Carrington Lane, who spoke on "Cultivating a Listening Habit in Music." The history of the sorority was given by Clara Bell Griffin, a reading by Miss Mattie Harris and a musical duet by Misses Caroline Lottier and Vivian Fletcher. The honored guests were Mildred Askew, Bayonne, Davis, Novella McClellan and Annette Matthews, who are now members of the Zeta Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Gamma Phi Fraternity.

The second program was given at 7:30 o'clock by the members of Beta and Delta Sigma Chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, who presented their annual May Week Program. The stage was arranged for the occasion, with their motto, "Intelligence as The Torch of Wisdom," and with a large electrical sign formed in the shape of a letter "Z," made up of various colored bulbs. In a short introductory address by the Mistress of Ceremonies, Miss A. Fouks, she stated the object of the May Program, principally to bring before the young people the needs of an education.

The speaker for the occasion, Soror Attorney Sadie T. Mossell Alexander, was introduced by Soror Alice Brickler. Mrs. Alexander is the only woman of her race admitted to the bar in Philadelphia, and she enjoys a large clientele of patrons and is associated with her husband in the practice of law. She held her audience spell bound discussing "Contributions that Negroes Have Made in the Foundation of America." Soror Ali H. Jackson gave an organ solo and Soror I. Askew a vocal solo. After the address by Soror Alexander, a violin solo was given by Soror Helen Ferguson, and the program closed with the Chapter Song.

The peaceful campus of the school was thrown into a state of chaos Friday morning when the members of the senior class made at once swooped down the main thoroughfares in a dozen autos daily decorated in all kinds of colors, wearing long coats, old black hats, and the girls in dresses and ribbons to match in as many shades as the boys, blowing tin horns, beating tin pans, drums and other symbols to make as much noise as possible. The frightened freshmen, sophomores and juniors quickly retreated to places of safety.

ty, not wanting to be driven off the campus by the strong seniors. After retreating they discovered it was "Senior Frook Day," a silently made their appearance on the campus again. The instructors gave the seniors a free morning and they took advantage of the morning hours and enjoyed what only comes once in four years of school life, a big, jolly and laughable time enjoying "Senior Frook Day."

Shack where treasure was found and above, right, Martin Corey, who made first discovery.

By JOSEPH S. WARD, JR.
GREENWICH, Mass., May 12.—A treasure hunt, in which rubbish heaps gave up handfuls of greenbacks, and piles of decaying vegetables proved to conceal a fortune in stocks and bonds, has given this town a nightmare. Not since the days of Captain Kidd has there been such a furore.

The cause of it all was a ragged peddler, George E. Phipps, who dragged through a wretched existence in misery and filth. Arriving at the scriptural three-score and ten, he passed away in squalor and solitude, the body to be found some time later.

Lived in Wretchedness
Those who found the body were amazed at the wretchedness of the scene. The man's bed was a pile of old coats, hung over bare steel springs, and his pillow was a bag of sprouting onions. The ramshackle dwelling had just two rooms, in one of which the human being lived; the other housed his two horses.

Dirt covered everything. A casual visitor, Martin Corey, of Prescott, Mass., poked among seventy-five bushels of rotting onions heaped against the inner walls of the old man's room. Some strangely embossed papers appeared. On examination, they proved to be stock and bond certificates, worth several thousand dollars.

This discovery prompted other dwellers to rush to the scene and join in the hunt. Several baskets of waste paper produced hundreds of dollars in checks, all contained in unopened registered letters—monthly dividends. The dirt of the floor gave up other valuables, until after several days of search, $50,000 had been disclosed. Searchers frantically examined the land for indications of buried treasure, and this search may go on secretly for months. Papers indicated that the aged recluse had at least $100,000 in stocks and bonds alone.

There were many stories as to why the old, egg-and-onion peddler shunned his fellow man. Some said he had withdrawn from human society when his father was burned to death in his shack fifty years ago.

Jilted in Youth?
Others said that when a young man, he was about to be married. He called on his fiancée one evening to find her entertaining another man. Without a word he walked from the house and retired to a hermit's life.

It is said he previously was known as the best-dressed man of the section. Then he took to rags. One of his peculiarities was his transposition of the wheels on a dozen old wagons in a shed. He put the large rear wheels in front, and the small front wheels in back. "It's easier on the horse," he said.

Extravagant estimates have guessed that a round million dollars will be found concealed somewhere about the property.

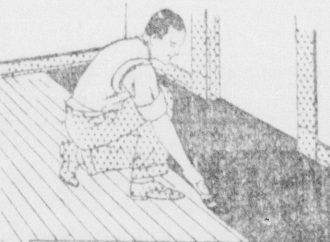

LIBRARY BRANCH AT BOWERSVILLE OPEN

The sixth branch of the Greene County District Library has just been opened with headquarters in the store of L. W. Linton, Bowersville.

Several sections of book shelving were built by the local boys in the manual training department at the Jefferson Twp. High School, after the local garage had agreed to supply the necessary lumber. These shelves now house a collection of between 200 and 300 books of all sorts.

The branch is fully equipped for service and all county residents who find it accessible are urged to make use of the books placed in the village for their use. The books may be drawn at any time that the store is open, which means any week day, from early in the morning until late at night.

WILBERFORCE

Rev. S. D. Callman of Wilmington, O., visited the school Wednesday.

Mrs. William H. Carter, after a month's visit with her daughter, Miss Roberta, returned to Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Monday.

Mr. Nelson Winslow of Columbus, interested in the Hoover campaign, was mingling among his many friends on the campus.

Mr. J. R. Highman, general superintendent of construction of the state architect's office, Columbus, was looking after state property Wednesday.

In keeping with Governor V. Donahue's "Mother's Day" proclamation, Sunday 13, a program suitable to pay respect that "every mother may be compensated by token of appreciation and love for her sacrifices and services," will be given in Jones Auditorium Sunday morning. Rev. Belbolden of Dayton will be the speaker.

Mrs. O. W. Callimese, of Cincinnati, grand president of Grand Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, was the guest of the "sorors" of Beta and Delta Sigma Chapters, Sunday.

Mrs. J. Aubrey Lane attended the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Belle Kenley of Chicago, in Middletown, Ohio, Tuesday.

Rev. L. C. Ridley of Trinity A. M. E. Church held services in Aker St. A. M. E. Church in Dayton, Sunday morning and Dr. H. H. Summers of Payne Seminary served for Rev. Ridley in Trinity A. M. E. Church.

Miss Hallie Q. Brown attended the Ohio Council of Republican women in Columbus, Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Janet Whitaker of Stone School and Miss Luberta Moore of Cincinnati motored to Wilberforce and attended the Beta and Delta-Sigma of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority May Week Program Sunday evening.

Mr. Rush Manual on his return to Cleveland from a trip in the South stopped off between trains and spent Sunday with friends.

Dean Geo. F. Woodson, President G. H. Jones, Prof. Chas. Johnson and Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Ridley left Sunday night for Chicago to attend the General Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith motored from Huntington, W. Va., Monday and left Tuesday morning for Chicago.

Mr. Lloyd Lewis, Commercial, 1223, director of commercial education in one of the high schools in Indianapolis, Ind., called to Xenia by the death of Mrs. Singer, spent a few hours in the community Tuesday evening.

Dr. Silas Alexander and Miss

Inez Walker of Columbus, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jenkins.

Sunday evening the students and citizens were given an opportunity to enjoy two very creditable and interesting programs given by different sororities in Jones Auditorium. At 6:30 the Alpha Chapter of Gamma Kappa Phi Junior Sorority presented its annual program. This sorority has a membership of thirty-three young women who are taking college grade work.

The officers are Bessie Oden, Venus; Vivian Fletcher, Juno; Olivelette Powe, Delphi; Wanda Lewis, Ceres; Mary Mason, Ilber; Mercedes Seward, Diana; Edith Glover, Venus and Clara B. Griffin, Minerva. The speaker of the evening was Leonora Carrington Lane who spoke on "Cultivating a Listening Habit in Music." The history of the sorority was given by Clara Bell Griffin, a reading by Miss Matie Harris and a musical duet by Novella McClellan and Annette Matthews, who are now members of the Zeta Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Gamma Phi Fraternity.

The second program was given at 7:30 o'clock by the members of Beta and Delta Sigma Chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, who presented their annual May Week Program. The stage was arranged for the occasion, with their motto, "Intelligence as The Torch of Wisdom" and with a large electrical sign formed in the shape of a letter "Z", made up of various colored bulbs. In a short introductory address by the Mistress of Ceremonies, Miss A. Foulks, she stated the object of the May Program, principally to bring before the young people the needs of an education.

The speaker for the occasion, Soror Attorney Sadie T. Mossell Alexander, was introduced by Soror Alice Bricker. Mrs. Alexander is the only woman of her race admitted to the bar in Philadelphia, and she enjoys a large clientele of patrons and is associated with her husband in the practice of law. She held her audience spell bound discussing "Contributions that Negroes Have Made in the Foundation of America." Soror Ali H. Jackson gave an organ solo and Soror I. Askew a vocal solo. After the address by Soror Alexander, a violin solo was given by Soror Helen Ferguson, and the program closed with the Chapter Song.

The peaceful campus of the school was thrown into a state of chaos Friday morning when the members of the senior class made their silent appearance, and all at once swooped down the main thoroughfares in a dozen autos richly decorated in all kinds of colors, wearing long coats, old black hats, and the girls in dresses and ribbons to match in as many shades as the boys, blowing tin horns, beating tin pans, drums and other symbols to make as much noise as possible. The frightened freshmen, sophomores and juniors quickly retreated to places of safety, not wanting to be driven off the campus by the strong seniors. After retreating to their discovery it was "Senior Frolic Day," as it was called. The instructors gave the seniors a free morning and they took advantage of the morning hours and enjoyed what only comes once in four years of school life, a big, jolly and laughable time enjoying "Senior Frolic Day."

THIRD CANDIDATE IN COMMISSION FIGHT

That there will be a contest for seats on the board of county commissioners was assured Saturday when John A. North, Xenia business man and former commissioner, made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination in August.

Two vacancies will occur at the end of this year with the completion of the terms of J. Harve Lackey and A. E. Beam. Both will be candidates to succeed themselves on the board and with the filing of the third candidate a race is certain. The term of Herman Eaver, third member, does not expire this year.

Mr. North served one term as county commissioner during the period when terms were lengthened from two to four years and because of the transition period he served only three years and four months. His term expired four years ago.

MADE CHAIRMAN OF CLUB COMMITTEE

Dr. A. B. Kester has been appointed chairman of the tournament committee at the Xenia Country Club for the coming season. It is announced, A. H. Finley was also named a member of the committee.

The principal duty of the chairman will be to arrange various forms of golf tournaments and probably several inter-city matches.

Junior Reception Staged In Pretty Setting

All the lovely colors of the springtime were combined to add an effective decorative note to the junior-senior reception at Central High School, Friday night.

The school ballroom was never prettier, and the annual social event was never more effectively planned than for the 1928 reception, which was enjoyed by 200 students of the two classes, the faculty and members of the board of education.

The gymnasium was converted into a spring bower as the center of the evening's activity with a suggestion of the Japanese motif. Pale yellow crepe paper streamers formed a canopy over the dancers.

McCLELLAND W. C. T. U. AT JACOBS RESIDENCE.

A "Mother's Day" program was held by McClelland W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. C. A. Jacobs, Dayton Pike, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Zetta McClelland presided and Mrs. Clint Manor led devotion.

Mrs. E. O. Jones had charge of the program, which opened with a talk on "The Mother Heart" by Mrs. J. T. Charters, which was much appreciated.

Mrs. Carrie Platter, county president, told of the National P-T. A. meeting held recently in Cleveland. She stressed the fact brought out in the convention, that children must be taught to obey before five years old.

Mrs. Raymond Tobias sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Jenkeny, at the piano. "The Battle Fought by Mothers of Men" was the title of a reading, given by Mrs. William Weiss. The program closed with the singing of "Blessed Be the Ties that Bind."

Mrs. Jacobs and her assistants, Mrs. R. L. Gowdy and Miss Rohrbach, served a salad course.

WEDDING DATE IS ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

Miss Olivia Cost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cost, Dayton Ave. has set June 1 as the date of her marriage to Mr. Clarence Horen, this city.

Announcement of the date was made when Mrs. Charles Cost and Miss Donald Cost entertained guests for six tables of bridge at their home Friday evening. Puzzle prizes were presented and the date was concealed in each token.

Mrs. Carl Ervin, Mrs. Glen McFadden and Miss Leona Keller won score prizes. They served luncheon after cards and pretty appointments were carried out in the affair.

Miss Cost is secretary-treasurer of the Aldine Publishing Co. Mr. Horen is the son of Mrs. Anna Horen and is employed at the Smith Advertising Co., as linotype operator.

XENIA W. C. T. U. MEETS ON FRIDAY

Duty as Christian women toward the present generation and the observance of "Mother's Day" was the theme of the meeting of Xenia W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. John A. S. Monroe St., Friday afternoon.

The meeting was held in prayer by Mrs. M. A. Hagler. The Rev. L. A. Washburn, of Trinity M. E. Church, spoke on "Mother's Day" and gave the union advice on the political situation today.

Mrs. A. J. Furstenberger gave a pleasing view into the life of Naomi and Ruth of ancient record, showing the constancy, love and devotion of daughter to Mother.

The Misses Reva and Mary Dakin gave vocal selections. Cakes and tea were served after the meeting.

Sara M. Chew Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church will observe the annual box opening at the May meeting which will be held Monday evening in the Sunday School room of the church. A covered dish dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and the program will follow the dinner. Special music and a missionary playlet will be features of the program.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuhn will visit relatives at Leesburg, O., over the week end.

Mrs. F. F. Filson will receive members of her bridge club at her home on N. King St., next Tuesday afternoon. Two tables of bridge will be in play.

Miss Fern Canaday has resigned her position at the Charters Jewelry Store, effective Saturday and has taken the position of bookkeeper at the Hilltop Supply Co., Columbus, O.

Mrs. Shiras A. Blair, Wilbur Wright Field, will entertain with a bridge-tee at her quarters Wednesday for the pleasure of Miss Elmer Meredith, Detroit, who will be the guest of Mrs. George P. Tourtelot, Wilbur Wright Field.

Lieut. and Mrs. Milo McCune, Wilbur Wright Field, entertained at their guest several days this week, Hon. Arthur H. Hays, city commissioner at Dallas and is also candidate for governor of Texas at the coming election.

Miss Maud Wynn Monroe is a member of the Alabama delegation and Miss Anna Louise Jones, of the Virginia delegation for "mock convention," May 14 and 15. Both students are from this city. The Oberlin Republican Mock Convention is an institution of sixty-four years standing, having made its appearance in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was nominated. The students make a serious attempt to duplicate the exact methods and procedure of the Republican conventions.

Pauline and Joyce Imhof, daughters of Mrs. Carl Imhof, Fairfield, underwent tonsil and adenoid operations in this city Friday.

Betty Adams, daughter of Prof. C. S. Adams, Yellow Springs, underwent a tonsil and adenoid operation in this city Saturday.

Ann Jeanette and Margaret Tierney, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Tierney, Sidney, O., are spending several days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Poland, while their parents are in Detroit on business.

PLAYS IMPORTANT CLASS PLAY ROLE

GERTRUDE MARTIN

A new actor in local dramatics is Miss Martin who will portray the role of "Mrs. Chichester," in "Peg O' My Heart," the Central High senior class play to be presented at Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, next Thursday and Friday nights.

ELMER SHOEMAKER NEW PRESIDENT OF AERIE OF EAGLES

Elmer Shoemaker was elected worthy president of Xenia Aerie, No. 1683, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for the ensuing year at the regular Aerie meeting Friday night, featured by nomination and annual election of officers. He succeeds Frank Barnes, who became worthy president several months ago following the resignation of George Killen.

Other officers elected are: Charles Murphy, worthy vice president; Lawrence Davis, worthy chaplain; Edgar Holton, secretary; Walter Neville, treasurer; I. Friedman, trustee for three years; Chas. Holton, trustee for two years; John Rachford, inside guard; Alfred Sturgeon, outside guard; and Dr. F. M. Chambliss, physician.

Harry Jordan, re-nominated for treasurer, declined the nomination, having served in this capacity for the last fifteen years. Otto Hornick also declined re-nomination for secretary after serving five years.

Attention is again called to the Mother's Day program to be sponsored at the Greene County infirmary by the local Aerie Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to which the public is invited to attend.

The principal address will be delivered by Judge Samuel Bell, Cincinnati, blind jurist and a past state president of the order. Eagles will distribute flowers and candy to the women and tobacco to the men.

The exercises will be in charge of the program committee composed of George Killen, I. Friedman and Elmer Shoemaker.

UNVEIL STATUE OF MOUND BUILDER AT STATE UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—A life size image representing what archaeologists believe to be a likeness of the Mound Builders that centuries ago inhabited the Buckeye State has been modeled by members of the Archaeological and Historical Society at the Ohio State University here, and was unveiled yesterday.

The figure has been named "The Prehistoric Sculptor." While archaeologists have found artistic examples of the handiwork of the Mound Builders, there is nothing on which to base an actual image of the prehistoric dwellers of Ohio. With this in mind they took measurements from a skeleton found in one of the mounds of the "first Ohioans" and created a figure that they believe portrays a likeness of the primitive man.

It is that of a male of about thirty years of age seated on a large stone. He is grasping a partially carved stone effigy pipe. At his feet are fragments of stone and flint. Standing against the rock, seemingly ever ready for use, is his copper ax or tomahawk.

Around the "sculptor's" neck is a string of beads with several bear teeth found in an Ohio mound. A copper bracelet is on his right arm. A loin cloth, his only piece of clothing, is copied from a colored piece of cloth once worn by a Mound Builder.

The prehistoric figure somewhat resembles a picture of the American Indian, but yet there is a significant difference. The American Indian is described as tall and slim. This figure is slightly heavier built, with fine features, straight black hair and an intelligent forehead. The cheek bones are slightly lower than those of the Indian and the nose is long and thin without the habitual curve that is depicted on the features of the American Indian.

This undertaking, an official of the society said, is perhaps unique, for while the ethnological figures and groups have been constructed by several of the larger museums, they have been modeled from living Indians. While the so called Mound Builders were racially the same as the American Indian, as we know him, yet their culture was such as to render them at least a different people—and since no living representative existed to furnish the sculptor with a model the unique idea of using a skeleton was suggested, the official declared.

BROKERS LOANS SET PEAK SPECULATIVE BORROWING RECORD

Rail, Motor And Specialty Stocks Rise In Prices.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A six per cent call loan rate did not impose an effective barrier to the rise in prices of the railroad, motor and specialty stocks on the New York Stock Exchange this week. The New York Reserve Bank took no action on the re-discount rate, and brokers loans achieved an extremely high increase of about $80,000,000 making a new peak in speculative borrowings for all time.

In order to ease the pressure on the mercantile facilities of the exchange and the commission houses the governors ordered that the big market close today, and the curb and some of the out-of-town exchanges.

The effect of this closing was to concentrate considerable odd-lot buying on Thursday and Friday.

General Motors Corporation fulfilled expectations by declaring an extra $2 cash dividend, in addition to the $1.25 regular quarterly dividend on their common stock. If this rate can be maintained it will mean an annual price movement to stockholders of $13 a share, amply justifying the current price of the stock. The motor car business as a whole was shown up in a favorable light, as the conversion of well known motors continued to move forward under the stimulus of strength of professional and outside buying.

The steel corporation's tonnage report showed a decrease of 463,000 tons in advance orders during April but the steel trade authorities attributed this to the increase of prompt delivery orders over the production was keeping up with the fast pace set earlier in the year, and consumption in large volume.

The same was true of the copper trade, and various sections of the metal industries. United States steel again sold at 150 for a gain of about six points from the low of the week, with shown up an important factor in the forward movement in the week end. Independent steels were uncommonly active and strong, with Bethlehem, Ludlum and Youngstown in the lead. American Smelting lead the advance in the coppers, with Chiles, Anaconda and Kennecott following closely.

After losing the bulk of the new gains recorded in the preceding week, the Standard and Independent oils rallied sharply. First quarter earnings for all of the oil companies made a disappointing comparison with the same period last year, and the gasoline markets for the week were decidedly irregular. But Wall Street believes the oil industry has passed through the worst that can happen for a considerable long period, and will show a large measure of improvement this year. Oil stocks have been quite fully liquidated, and demand for the well-known issues this week was excellent.

Expectation of improved earnings and larger cash dividends for the stocks of the leading railroad was a strong factor in the "dividend rally" this week. Canadian Pacific and New York Central constituted a spectacular bullish advance, moving to the highest price of last year.

Wheat declined sharply at the interior points as the result of the bearish government report and the uncovering of stop loss orders. Commodity markets were generally firm.

SPANISH FLYERS TO START FOR INDIA

SEVILLE, Spain, May 12.—The Spanish aviators, Captains Jimenez and Iglesias, will take off for Karachi, India at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. It was announced at the airdrome here today.

Rumors that the flyers were contemplating a transatlantic flight to Havana were set at rest yesterday by a statement from Col. Kindelan, chief of the Spanish military aviation service, who said that the flyers were army officers and as such would have to obey orders to fly to Karachi.

NINE-YEAR-OLD "BOOTLEGGER"

BALTIMORE.—Pete, a nine-year-old boy, was arrested and brought before Frank Supplee, United States commissioner, on a bootlegging charge. The boy had two gallons of whiskey in his possession, family and he and his mother were upon questioning. It developed that Pete's father had deserted the trying to make a living for the children, of whom he was the eldest. "Boy, can you find your way home?" asked Supplee. "Yes," answered the youngster, tearfully. "Do I have to come back?" "Not unless you are sent for. Here is your car fare. Go home to your mother," said the commissioner, handing Pete ten cents.

DOUGHBOY WEARS WHITE GLOVES

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The American doughboy steps out today in his new white gloves!

With his smart Pershing cap, regulation rubber heels and doggy white mits he will present henceforth on parade and ceremonies the world's best-dressed soldier—zip from head to toe.

Quartermaster regulations effective today prescribe the new whites for enlisted men only for ceremonial occasions. The present olive drab woollens will continue good form for cold weather, and buff leather remains proper for mounted troops.

Officers have been authorized for some time to wear dress gloves of white washable chambray or doekin.

PAINTERSVILLE

Those amongst the sick this week are Mrs. Sadie Carmen and Mrs. Lyle Caraway, both of whom are not much improved.

Mr. Thomas Christy still remains in a very critical condition. Mrs. Paul Pawcett spent Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Christy. Mrs. Ruth Devoe spent Sunday with Harper Devoe and family and also attended Sunday School and preaching services at Pt. William.

Mr. Everett St. John and family of Maple Corner and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Foley of Yellow Springs were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Foley Sunday. Mr. Foley's sister from Dayton was an evening caller.

Carl Babb and family of Waynesville were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Babb Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Devoe were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isalah Mason Sunday.

Elmer Carter has purchased a new Durant Coupe. Mrs. Bert Pierson was completely surprised last Sunday when several of her relatives called to spend the day. The occasion was her birthday. Those present were: Mr. Guy Pierson and family, Mr. Glenn Pierson and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Done, all of Sabina; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bath, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robinette, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Thompson and son Bobby, all of Xenia and Mr. and Mrs. Burch Pierson and daughter Genevieve. Mrs. Nellie Ray and Mrs. Adam Fath spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Raper Bates.

THREE STUDENT'S ARRESTED IN ROBBERY OF WILBERFORCE STORE

One affidavit charges the three students stole five kodaks valued at $58; ten fountain pens worth $40; toilet articles and perfumes valued at $34, and kodak books and supplies worth $33.75, an aggregate value of $165.75 from the store April 18.

The second affidavit against the trio charges the theft of the following articles April 21: three boxes of stationary valued at $1.50; eight packages of shaving cream, $2.80; five cans of emery, $1.50; three and one-half dozen tubes of Listerine tooth paste, $7.80; one dozen white vaseline, $1.20; ten bottles of library paste, $1.20; one dozen men's hose, $6; three dozen cakes of toilet soap, $3.60; two dozen cans of shoe polish, $2.40; one dozen razor blades, $1.20; one-half dozen bottles of grape juice, $3; two packages of sugar, $0.40; 500 envelopes, $3; and five boxes of candy worth $6, a total value of $45.10.

Suspected of having twice robbed the F. A. McGinnis restaurant and general store at Wilberforce of articles upon which a total value of $210.85 is placed, three Wilberforce University students were arrested Friday by Constable Winifred B. Mason, operating out of the court of R. O. Copey, Xenia Twp., justice of the peace.

Those arrested were Asa Barnes, 16, Earl Foster, 17, and James Cowser, 18, all colored.

Two affidavits charging grand larceny were sworn out against each youth by Mrs. Charlie A. McGinnis, wife of the proprietor.

The trio denied having robbed the store on April 18 and April 21 although a part of the loot was reported found in their rooms in the university dormitories.

Appearing before Squire Copey Friday, the youths pleaded not guilty. Cases of Barnes and Foster were transferred to the juvenile division of the Probate Court for investigation since they are under age and could not be prosecuted in a justice of the peace court.

As no affidavits were filed in juvenile court, Judge S. C. Wright released the two. No hearing has been set by the magistrate in Cowser's case. He was released without bond.

EXPECT FARM BILL ACTION ON MAY 15

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill will reach President Coolidge's desk about May 15, it was indicated today. A veto probably awaits it.

The conference report, embodying a compromise between house and senate on provisions in dispute, was to be presented to both houses today and acted upon Monday.

Since little difficulty was encountered by congress, pilots of the bill predicted adoption of the conference report without much opposition.

WILL SELL GRANT'S FORMER RESIDENCE

NEW YORK, May 12.—The house in which General U. S. Grant lived during his last illness, on East 68th Street here, will be sold at public auction to satisfy mortgages against the property, in accordance with a court judgment announced today. The auction is expected to take place June 12.

In 1883 Gen. Grant fell on the ice on the sidewalk in front of this old-fashioned house and was subsequently an invalid. It was here he wrote his memoirs.

gion in North Africa, Captain Paul Lartat with a handful of native soldiers sets out to capture a band of Arab raiders. He captures instead a young girl who comes as a spy to his camp in the desert, and is led through her to an old Berber fortress in the mountains and to the mystery that lies behind it.

OVERHAULING

Mother's Day May 13th, 1928

MOTHER'S CARE is the benediction that hovers over life from earliest infancy. Mother's love and tenderness make childhood life's most joyous, care-free period.

MOTHER'S CARE guides young feet when they step out on life's rugged highway and her wisdom and inspiration start you on the way to success and happiness.

MOTHER'S CARE lasts through every day and hour of life. When age has silvered her hair and slowed her step, it is then that you begin to realize what MOTHER'S CARE really is and how much you owe to MOTHER.

Junior Reception Staged In Pretty Setting

All the lovely colors of the springtime were combined to add an effective decorative note to the junior-senior reception at Central High School, Friday night.

The school ballroom was never prettier and the annual social event was never more perfectly planned than for the 1928 reception, which was enjoyed by 200 students of the two classes, the faculty and members of the board of education.

The gymnasium was converted into a spring bower as the center of the evening's activity with a suggestion of the Japanese motif. Pale yellow crepe paper streamers formed a canopy over the dancers.

McLELLAND W. C. T. U. AT JACOBS RESIDENCE.

A "Mother's Day" program was held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Jacobs, Dayton Pike, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Zetta McClelland presided and Mrs. Clint Manor led devotions.

Mrs. E. O. Jones had charge of the program, which opened with a talk on "The Mother Heart" by Mrs. J. T. Charters, which was much appreciated.

Mrs. Carrie Platter, county president, told of the National P. T. A. meeting held recently in Cleveland. She stressed the fact brought out in the convention, that children must be taught to obey before five years old.

Mrs. Raymond Tobias sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson McKinney, at the piano. "The Battle Fought by Mothers of Men" was the title of a reading, given by Mrs. William Weiss. The program closed with the singing of "Blessed Be the Ties that Bind."

Mrs. Jacobs and her assistants, Mrs. R. L. Gowdy and Miss Rohrbaugh, served a salad course.

WEDDING DATE IS ANNOUNCED AT PARTY. Miss Olivia Cost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cost, Dayton Ave., has set June 1 as the date of her marriage to Mr. Clarence Horen, this city.

Announcement of the date was made when Mrs. Charles Cost and Miss Donald Cost entertained guests for six tables of bridge at their home Friday evening. Puzzle prizes were presented and the date was concealed in each token.

Mrs. Carl Ervin, Mrs. Glen McFadden and Miss Leona Keller won score prizes. They served luncheon after cards and pretty appointments were carried out in the affair.

Miss Cost is secretary-treasurer of the Aline Publishing Co. Mr. Horen is the son of Mrs. Anna Horen and is employed at the Smith Advertising Co., as linotype operator.

XENIA W. C. T. U. MEETS ON FRIDAY. Duty as Christian women toward the present generation and the observance of "Mother's Day" was the theme of the meeting of Xenia W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. John A. T. U., on Friday afternoon.

The meeting was led in prayer by Mrs. M. A. Hagler. The Rev. L. A. Washburn, of Trinity M. E. Church, spoke on "Mother's Day" and gave the union advice on the political situation today.

Mrs. A. J. Furstenberger gave a pleasing view into the life of Naomi and Ruth of ancient record, showing the constancy, love and devotion of daughter to Mother.

The Misses Reva and Mary Dakin gave vocal selections. Cakes and tea were served after the meeting.

Sara M. Chow Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church will observe the annual mite-box opening at the May meeting which will be held Monday evening in the Sunday School room of the church. A covered dish dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and the program will follow the dinner. Special music and a missionary playlet will be features of the program.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuhn will visit relatives at Leesburg, O., over the week end.

Mrs. F. F. Filson will receive members of her bridge club at her home on N. King St., next Friday afternoon. Two tables of bridge will be in play.

Miss Fern Canaday has resigned her position at the Charters Jewelry Store, effective Saturday and has taken the position of bookkeeper at the Hilltop Supply Co., Columbus, O.

Mrs. Shiras A. Blair, Wilbur Wright Field, will entertain with a bridge-tee at her quarters Wednesday for the pleasure of Miss Elmer Meredith, Detroit, who will be the guest of Mrs. George P. Tourtelot, Wilbur Wright Field.

Lieut. and Mrs. Milo McCune, Wilbur Wright Field, entertained at their guest several days this week. Hon. Arthur Rhinehart, Dallas, Tex. Mr. Rhinehart is city commissioner at Dallas and is also candidate for governor of Texas at the coming election.

Miss Maud Wynn Monroe is a member of the Alabama delegation and Miss Anna Louise Jones of the Virginia delegation for the Oberlin College Republican "mock convention," May 14 and 15. Both students are from this city. The Oberlin Republican Mock Convention is an institution of sixty-four years standing, having made its appearance in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was nominated. The students make a serious attempt to duplicate the exact methods and procedure of the Republican conventions.

Pauline and Joyce Imhof, daughters of Mrs. Carl Imhof, Fairfield, underwent tonsil and adenoid operations in this city Friday.

Betty Adams, daughter of Prof. C. S. Adams, Yellow Springs, underwent a tonsil and adenoid operation in this city Saturday.

Ann Jeanette and Margaret Tierney, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Tierney, Sidney, O., are spending several days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Poland, while their parents are in Detroit on business.

The streamers were divided by bands of plaited purple and white crepe, which made a more ethereal effect. Purple and gold pagoda lamps were suspended at intervals.

The entire room was encased in white lattice over which were twined wisteria, huckleberry vines, smilax, honeysuckle and lilacs.

Settees and chairs were placed along the walls for the convenience of the guests, a floor lamp casting a prettily glow over each nook. Card tables were placed on the outer edge of the floor for those who did not care to dance.

Dancing began about 8:30 after the guests were received by officers of the junior class: John Little, President; Robert Buel, vice president; Edith McDonald, secretary; Edwin Bull, treasurer; Miss Olive Allen, class advisor; Superintendent and Mrs. H. C. Pendry, Principal and Mrs. Louis Hammerle.

The dancers were presented program in the form of scrolls. In blue and silver. Excellent dance music was furnished by Michael Hauer's Orchestra from Dayton. The orchestra pit was concealed by palms and lattice-work.

The guests were invited to the refreshment for refreshments at 11:30. Here, another effective decorative idea was employed. The door was screened with curtains of purple and gold crepe and the tables were centered with streamers in pastel shades. Smilax and other vines concealed the walls.

The menu consisted of chicken salad, sandwiches, cheese straws, ice cream and cake, mints and candy. Freshman girls, in gypsy costumes, served. Punch was served in the ballroom for the guests' refreshment. Favors of candy novelties, were distributed.

Dancing, with many novelty numbers introduced, was enjoyed until midnight.

The reception, as always, was featured by the charming dance frocks of the young girls. The variety of color and the girlish models formed a pretty picture on the dance floor.

Francis E. Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foley, 915 W. Second St., left Thursday morning for the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill. The youth enlisted Feb. 16, last, but owing to the fact that he was only 17, did not leave until Thursday, May 10, his eighteenth birthday. He enlisted for four years.

The choir of Christ Episcopal Church will hold its monthly supper meeting Saturday evening, when several guests from the congregation will be entertained. Choir practice will follow.

Robert Adair was host to five couples at a "slumber party" at his home on N. Galloway St., Friday evening, after the junior-senior reception. Refreshments were served and singing and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour. The same group was entertained at breakfast by Miss Doris McCormick at her home on N. King St., Saturday morning.

Mrs. Robert Adair and two sons and Mrs. Robert Armstrong Cochran, III, of Mayville, Ky., will arrive Monday for a visit with Xenia relatives.

Miss Sarah Bell Williams, E. Market St., is expected to arrive home Monday from St. Louis where she has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Edward Williams.

Mrs. S. C. McConnell, Danville, Ky., left Friday for her home after a visit of six weeks with Dr. and Mrs. Paul D. Espey, N. Detroit St.

Mr. Richard Sayre, Cincinnati, will spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Sayre, N. King St.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Longworth, Hicksville, O., have been spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bishop, N. King St., returning home Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Whittington, W. Main St., is spending several days in Dayton, with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Eneyart.

Mrs. P. A. Alexander, N. King St., left Saturday to spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whitacre, Morrow, O.

Miss Evelyn Perrill, N. King St., is spending the week end with friends at Adrian College, Adrian, Mich.

Mrs. Mary Little Dice, Miss Mary Little and John Little are leaving for John next Wednesday for California, to spend the summer at one of the beach resorts. Mr. George Little will accompany them part of the way and will then go East to attend the graduation of Miss Helen Little from Skidmore, June 10. They will then join Miss Barbara Little at Wellesley and the three will go west by train, to join the other members of the family.

Funeral services for the Rev. Ernest Games, former Greene County pastor who was killed in an auto accident in Pennsylvania, will be held Monday at 1 p. m., at Attica, O., south of Sandusky, with burial in Ridgewood, near Marion, O.

Mr. George Bloom and young son, of Charleston, W. Va., are spending the week-end with relatives in Xenia.

Mrs. Elden Martin and children and Mrs. Francis Orr are visiting relatives in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Orr will also visit in Wichita, Kan., before returning home. They made the trip by motor and expect to remain two or three weeks.

ELMER SHOEMAKER NEW PRESIDENT OF AERIE OF EAGLES

Elmer Shoemaker was elected worthy president of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for the ensuing year at the regular Aerie meeting Friday night, featured by nomination and annual election of officers. He succeeds Frank Barnes, who became worthy president several months ago following the resignation of George Killen.

Other officers elected are: Charles Murphy, worthy vice president; Lawrence Davis, worthy chaplain; Edgar Holton, secretary; Walter Neville, treasurer; J. Friedman, trustee for three years; Chame Holton, trustee for two years; John Rachford, inside guard; Alfred Sturgeon, outside guard; and Dr. F. M. Chambliss, physician.

Harry Jordan, re-nominated for treasurer, declined the nomination, having served in this capacity for the last fifteen years. Otto Hornick also declined re-nomination for secretary after serving five years.

Attention is again called to the Mother's Day program to be sponsored at the Greene County Infirmary by the local Aerie Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to which the public is invited to attend.

The principal address will be delivered by Judge Samuel Bell, Cincinnati, blind jurist and a past state president of the order. Eagles will distribute flowers and candy to the women and tobacco to the men.

The exercises will be in charge of the program committee composed of George Killen, J. Friedman and Elmer Shoemaker.

UNVEIL STATUE OF MOUND BUILDER AT STATE UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—A life size image representing what archaeologists believe to be a likeness of the Mound Builders that centuries ago inhabited the Buckeye State has been modeled by members of the Archaeological and Historical Society at the Ohio State University here, and was unveiled yesterday. The figure has been named "The Prehistoric Sculptor."

While archaeologists have found artistic examples of the handiwork of the Mound Builders, there is nothing on which to base an actual image of the prehistoric dwellers of Ohio. With this in mind they took measurements from a skeleton found in one of the mounds of the "first Ohioans" and created a figure that they believe portrays a likeness of the primitive man.

It is that of a male of about thirty years of age seated on a large stone. He is grasping a partially carved stone effigy pipe. At his feet are fragments of stone and flint. Standing against the rock, seemingly ever ready for use, is his copper ax or tomahawk.

Around the "sculptor's" neck is a string of beads with several bear teeth found in an Ohio mound. A copper bracelet is on his right arm. A loin cloth, his only piece of clothing, is copied from a colored piece of cloth once worn by a Mound Builder.

The prehistoric figure somewhat resembles a picture of the American Indian, but yet there is a significant difference. The American Indian is described as tall and slim. This figure is slightly hunched, built with fine features, straight black hair and an intelligent forehead. The cheek bones are slightly lower than those of the Indian and the nose is long and thin without the habitual curve that is depicted in the features of the American Indian.

This undertaking, an official of the society said, is perhaps unique, for while the ethnological figures and groups have been constructed by several of the larger museums, they have been modeled from living Indians. While the so-called Mound Builders were racially the same as the American Indian, as we know him, yet their culture was such as to render them at least a different people—and since no living representative existed to furnish the sculptor with a model the unique idea of using a skeleton was suggested, the official declared.

A typical Mound-builder skeleton, from one of Ohio's high culture mounds was selected and by making use of scientific methods of restoration the physical entity of a human being long gone has been reproduced.

Erwin F. Frey, of the department of fine arts at the Ohio State University did the actual modeling of the figure. James R. Hopkins, of the same department colored it, using as his model Ralph W. Allen, Indian student at the university.

BROKERS LOANS SET PEAK SPECULATIVE BORROWING RECORD

Rail, Motor And Specialty Stocks Rise In Prices.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A six per cent call loan rate did not impose an effective barrier to the rise in prices of the railroad, motor and specialty stocks on the New York Stock Exchange this week. The New York Reserve Bank took no action on the re-discount rate, and brokers loans achieved an extremely high increase of about $80,000,000 making a new peak in speculative borrowings for all time.

In order to ease the pressure on the mercantile facilities of the exchange and the commission houses the governors ordered that the big market close today, and the example was followed by the curb and some of the out-of-town exchanges.

The effect of this closing was to concentrate considerable odd-lot buying on Thursday and Friday.

General Motors Corporation fulfilled expectations by declaring an extra $2 cash dividend, in addition to the $1.25 regular quarterly dividend on their common stock. If this rate can be maintained it will mean an annual price movement to stockholders of $13 a share, amply justifying the current price of the stock. The motor car business as a whole was shown up in a favorable light, and stocks of the well known motors continued to move forward under the stimulus of strength of professional and outside buying.

The steel corporation's tonnage report showed a decrease of 463,000 tons in advance orders during April but the steel trade authorities attributed this to the increase of prompt delivery orders over deferred delivery. They showed that production was keeping up with the fast pace set earlier in the year, and consumption in large volume.

The same was true of the copper trade, and various sections of the metal industries. United States steel again sold at 150 for a gain of about six points from the low of the week, with short covering an important factor in the forward movement in the week end. Independent steels were uncommonly active and strong, with Bethlehem, Ludlum and Youngstown in the lead. American Smelting lead the advance in the coppers, with Chiles, Anaconda and Kennecott following closely.

After losing the bulk of the new gains recorded in the preceding week, the Standard and Independent oil rallied sharply. First quarter earnings for all of the oil companies made a disappointing comparison with the same period last year, and the gasoline markets for the week were decidedly irregular.

But Wall Street believes the oil industry has passed through its worst, and that the market is considerably longer period, and will show a large measure of improvement this year. Oil stocks have been quite fully liquidated, and demand for the well-known issues this week was excellent.

Expectation of improved earnings and larger cash dividends for the stocks of the leading railroad was a strong factor in the "dividend rally" this week. Canadian Pacific and New York Central constituted a spectacular bullish advance, moving to the highest price of last year.

What declined sharply at the interior points as the result of the bearish government report and the uncovering of stop loss orders. Commodity markets were generally firm.

SPANISH FLYERS TO START FOR INDIA. SEVILLE, Spain, May 12.—The Spanish aviators, Captains Jimenez and Iglesias, will take off for Karachi, India, at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. It was announced at the airfield here today.

Rumors that the flyers were contemplating a transatlantic flight to Havana were set at rest yesterday by a statement from Col. Kindelan, chief of the Spanish military aviation service, who said that the flyers were army officers and as such would have to obey orders to fly to Karachi.

NINE-YEAR-OLD "BOOTLEGGER". BALTIMORE.—Pete, a nine-year-old boy, was arrested and brought before Frank Supplee, United States commissioner, on a bootlegging charge. The boy had two gallons of whisky in his possession, family and he and his mother were. Upon questioning, it developed that Pete's father had deserted the trying to make a living for the children, of whom he was the eldest. "Boy, can you find your way home?" asked Supplee. "Yes," answered the youngster, tearfully. "Do I have to come back?" "Not unless you are sent for. Here is your car fare. Go home to your mother," said the commissioner, handing Pete ten cents.

THREE STUDENT'S ARRESTED IN ROBBERY OF WILBERFORCE STORE

One affidavit charges the three students stole five kodaks valued at $58; ten fountain pens worth $40; toilet articles and perfumes valued at $34; and kodak books and supplies worth $33.75, an aggregate value of $166.75 from the store April 18.

The second affidavit against the trio charges the theft of the following articles April 21: three boxes of stationary valued at $1.50; eight packages of shaving cream, $2.80; five cans of engine oil, $1.50; three and one-half dozen tubes of Listerine tooth paste, $7.80; one dozen white vaseline, $1.20; ten bottles of library paste, $1.20; one dozen men's hose, $6; three dozen cakes of toilet soap, $3.60; two dozen cans of shoe polish, $2.40; one dozen razor blades, $1.20; one-half dozen bottles of grape juice, $3; two packages of sugar, $0.40; 500 envelopes, $3; and five boxes of candy worth $6, a total value of $45.10.

Suspected of having twice robbed the P. A. McGinnis restaurant and general store at Wilberforce of articles upon which a total value of $210.85 is placed, three Wilberforce University students were arrested Friday by Constable Winifred B. Mason, operating out of the court of R. O. Copey, Xenia Twp., Justice of the peace.

Those arrested were Asa Barnes, 15, Earl Foster, 17, and James Cowser, 18, all colored.

Two affidavits charging grand larceny were sworn out against each youth by Mrs. Charlie A. McGinnis, wife of the proprietor. The trio denied having robbed the store on April 18 and April 21 although a part of the loot was reported found in their rooms in the university dormitories.

Appearing before Squire Copey Friday, the youths pleaded not guilty. Cases of Barnes and Foster were transferred to the juvenile division of the Probate Court for investigation since they are under age and could not be prosecuted in a Justice of the peace court.

As no affidavits were filed in juvenile court, Judge S. C. Wright released the two. No hearing has been set.

EXPECT FARM BILL ACTION ON MAY 15

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill will reach President Coolidge's desk about May 15, it was indicated today. A veto probably awaits it.

SLIGHTING AN IMPORTANT JOB

Compared with the contest for the presidential nomination, the race for the vice-presidency attracts little interest. And yet it is one of the greatest offices of the nation. Several times the vice-president has succeeded to the presidency. Many great statesmen, of course, have been reluctant to accept the nomination. They disliked the inactivity of the second place in the government. But the man chosen for that office should be one who is fully qualified for the presidential office, so that the country will not suffer if the succession passes to him.

In the past men have sometimes been nominated for this office who could not have been elected president. The man named for vice-president should be big enough to be seriously considered as a presidential nominee.

The vice-presidential nomination is handed out in many cases as a kind of consolation prize, and is very apt to be given to some doubtful state. Hence the real race for this nomination hardly starts until the candidate for president is chosen, with the feeling that the vice-presidential nominee should balance the ticket.

It would strengthen our scheme of government to give the vice-president more power and influence. He ought to have something more to do than the routine work of presiding over the senate. If the office provided a chance for greater activity, some who have declined to accept it in the past might have been willing to take it.

And it is poor policy to pick out a vice-presidential candidate in order to flatter some one state. To be fitted to serve as president or vice-president, a man must have had such a record for constructive statesmanship as to appeal to people all over the country.

THE FUTURE IN AVIATION

The first all-American Aircraft show in Detroit, with 130 exhibitors occupying 166,000 feet of floor space, has been voted such a marked success that it has been decided to make it an annual event. There have been smaller exhibitions in this line at various times in the last ten years, but nothing comparable to the Detroit show in scope and significance. Doubtless the object lessons there presented will stimulate interest in smaller shows throughout the country, and one of these is being staged in Syracuse this week. From now on such shows will excite interest as reflecting new developments in a fast-growing field of activity.

One interesting point is that some of the new introductions being put to a test are essentially a fulfillment of ideas put forth at an earlier period of aviation development. In this category is the German plane of a ten-car aid express train, reported as under test. By this arrangement a high-powered machine is to haul a series of gliders which can be released at local points with a minimum delay of the train itself, and by a system that reduces operations costs as well as running time.

With new wonders developing in aviation constantly, and with many industrial centers taking a hand in some way in producing aircraft, it is no surprise that public interest centers as never before on this department of activity. Western cities probably have made the most pronounced headway in this connection, though New York City and Long Island have shown keen interest. There is a growing opportunity for alert cities, large and small, to capitalize aircraft possibilities for their advantage.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Observations of a wanderer in New York's canyons:

Rain. A man getting a wetting with a woman's umbrella, green and red striped, unopened, in his hand. A policeman directing traffic from under a sheltering awning 25 feet from the corner by means of weird whistling. Probably New York has the worst traffic system of any city in the world. There's neither rhyme nor reason to it. A dog lapping at a puddle in the gutter.

Taxicab drivers develop their superiority complex when it rains and they're in demand. The driver of a "15 and 5" cab is loudly telling a prospective customer, "I'll take you where you want to go for $2, no less." The p. c. looks around with a scowl for another cab, gets more water down his neck, and humbly climbs into the car. Two grape vendors watch the shower from an alley entrance, their carts drawn in beside them. One of them is eating from the other's cart.

There goes a calliope, advertising not a circus, but a brand of flour. How can a calliope induce persons to buy flour? Madison Square is clean-looking in the rain, the Metropolitan tower is lovely through the mist. There's that monstrous Seward statue. An order for a Lincoln statue was given a sculptor, then countermanded in favor of an order for a Seward statue. The artist only changed the head. Rain. I'm reminded of Stephen Crane's "Wounds in the Rain," and the story of Sergeant Major Quick, who stood up in front of a trench, his back to Spanish rifle fire, to signal U. S. warships and save his comrades from the ship's shells.

A man wearing one of those paper raincoats sold in drug stores for 25 cents. A woman digging wet paper from a wastebasket for her huge bundle. On the East Side poor families soak newspapers, twist them tightly, and save the dried wads for fuel. A man's sitting asleep on a park bench, undisturbed by the water that trickles down his worn face. A girl in a yellow slicker decorated by boy friends. One of the signs on the sign, "Slow Down for Curves."

Hint to persons about to visit New York: Before leaving the station or ferry-ship, at which you arrive, "shop" around for hotel rooms by phone. So many new hotels have been opened that there is keen competition for guests, and also the advent of summer is sending many winter hotel guests away. Rooms in first-class hostels may be obtained at unusually low rates by persons who do not try to make it appear that money means nothing to them.

Some sons neglect to write mother, and others go to other mothers. Young Roger Wolfe Kahn, the jazz orchestra and aviation enthusiast, talks to his mother, now in London, by trans-Atlantic radio phone every night.

TRUTHFULNESS BECOMES MORE POPULAR

The tendency in all lines of selling today is away from so-called "trick stuff." It is dangerous to fool a customer into buying anything, no matter how meritorious the article may be. On the dining cars of a well known railroad the menu cards used to carry both at noon and in the evening, a line stamped on in red ink: "Special Chicken Dinner Today, $1.25." Then the dining-car conductor called attention to this line, remarking: "We have a special chicken dinner today. Very nice!"

Now the idea was to convey to the customer the impression that there was something out of the ordinary. The day before or the day after, or maybe any other day in the year, he might not have an opportunity like this to buy a special chicken dinner on the dining-car at a flat rate. Yet that identical special chicken dinner was on the menu of that railroad twice a day—for both dinner and supper—every day in the year, including Sundays and Arbor Day.

Many persons would not buy that special dinner, no matter how much of an inward craving they had for cold storage chicken, simply because they thought there was trickery in the method of selling it.

Similarly the public dislikes to have a store insist on any business method which is obviously designed solely for the interest of the store rather than for the customer.

I went one day to a candy and soda-water establishment, accompanied by an estimable young woman, intending to buy a round of drinks. I found that none of the salespeople would accept my order until I purchased a check representing the amount of my intended purchase. At that moment neither of us had fully determined just what we were going to drink. We were obliged to confer on this point, and then inquire for price quotations on the drink we had selected, after which it was necessary to go to the cashier and pay thirty cents—I believe it was—for a check. Without this check, paid for in advance, we could not enter into the picture at all. The whole thing suggested a distrust of its customers on the part of the store—as if there was a fear that, having quenched his thirst, a man would pull his hat on tight and make a quick dash for the door without paying for his drink or his ice cream.

A big store advertised a special mid-summer sale for two weeks, in August, at greatly reduced prices. There was a set of mink furs for $125, which ordinarily sold for $165. The day after the sale had closed, a woman went to that store and sought

How to Achieve Beauty

Hair Line Decisions

Few women seem to realize the importance of the hair line. Though men of all ages have eulogized the heart-shaped face, the peaked face, the flower face, there are still women who need more convincing on the importance of their hair lines.

For, of course, you know (though it's perfectly possible that you don't) the arrangement of your hair and the way it frames your face.

First in beauty, we have the little peak of hair on the forehead. Of recent years it was called the widow's peak, and it has always been considered absolutely devastating to the eyes, and the hearts of men! If, by chance, you are blessed with the widow's peak, comb your hair straight off your forehead, whatever else you do to the sides. Your brow must influence your hair line. If it is very high and very broad, you will probably bring little waves down over your eye, breaking up the too-wide line.

In suggesting the way to make the best of your hair lines, my advice is "try them all out!" Arrange your mirrors so you can see both back and sides of your hair and experiment! Try your hair back off your face. Sometimes, this is a most attractive arrangement. Try dropping it down over your ears. There are at least a dozen ways which will suggest themselves to you once you are in the actual process of arrangement. And of them all—one is going to suit you exactly. Select it—and then be loyal to it—whatever the style may say!

And now a word or two for that article.

Diet and Health

THE INTESTINAL FLORA AND MILK

By the intestinal flora is meant the millions of germs or microscopic plants that are always in the lower intestines, and are normal and apparently have some relation to the chemistry of digestion. However, when the putrefactive type predominates, harmful reactions result, and it becomes necessary to get rid of them. The putrefactive type is liable to develop in too large numbers, when excessive amounts of flesh foods are eaten and the bowel movements are not normal. Besides the inclusion of more milk with its lactic acid or vegetables should be eaten, and friendly germs, more fruits and other measures to combat constipation employed.

Metchnikoff, who worked with the Bulgarian, believed that their longevity was due to the effects of their diet, which contained large amounts of milk artificially soured with the bacillus bulgaricus. Now the acidophilus bacillus is having its day. It does not seem to be a little more active in combating putrefaction than the bulgaricus, but bulgaricus and acidophilus are types of lactic acid bacilli. And they are good—there's no dietary lactic acid bacteria, which doubt—but don't forget the or are present in milk, are also beneficial.

The lactic acid germs thrive on the sugar of the milk, and in cases where it is necessary to change the intestinal flora, extra sugar of milk is given, to help the propagation of these germs.

It mustn't be forgotten that not all the virtue of the milk lies in its lactic acid bacillus—not by long shot. Its biologically complete protein (building and the repair element in food), and its liberal supply of calcium—which the ordinary American diet is deficient in—are big reasons why we should take milk in some form—cheese, custards, butter-milk, etc., every day.

SUGGESTIONS

Storing Galoshes

Brush and clean the overshoes thoroughly both inside and out; then set them in a large, clean paper bag and fold the top of the bag over two or three times and paste down with gummed paper or library paste. Your galoshes are now ready to put away and will be clean and free from moths when you need them again next fall.

Ready-Cut Toast

Poached eggs on toast for an invalid are much easier to eat if the toast is first cut in small squares and then buttered, keeping the shape of the slice intact. Place the egg on the toast, which may be easily broken apart by the person in bed.

DATE SOUFFLE

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

One cup sugar, two eggs, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup English walnuts (quartered), one cup dates, seeded and cut in half. Pour in flat tin and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Cases of permanent injury and deaths caused by such work, go to your library and get a copy of the October 31, 1925, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association; read Dr. Edward Blaine's article on "Manipulative Dislocations of the Spine."

A few thought this article was directed to the osteopathic profession. It was not. It was directed to the horde of uneducated and unprepared practitioners who claim that all disease is due to subluxations of the spine, and pressure of the spinal nerves, and that they can be cured by relief of that pressure.

Sooner or later there is going to be demanded of all schools that teach the healing art the same standard that is demanded by the medical colleges: four years of training in the special college (for it takes at least four years to get the basic sciences that are necessary to practice the healing art, followed by a year's internship in a hospital; and graduation from an accredited high school and at least two years of work in an accredited college, as a matriculation requirement in the special college. Then the title of "Doctor" will assure the patient that he is dealing with a broadly educated, scientific, highly-trained practitioner, who perhaps is specializing in one branch of the healing art. Then the serious results such as referred to in Dr. Blaine's article will not result.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Perched on his platform in the senate chamber, gavel in hand, presiding the vice president gives the impression of a mighty important functionary.

Visitors often wonder why the job's so much poo-poo-ed by politicians. The politicians are right, however.

What the visitors don't realize is that it's the vice presidential "setting" they're impressed by—not the vice president.

To size up the vice presidency correctly, it's more enlightening to take a look at it outside law-making hours.

The vice president has his personal suite in the Senate Office building. It's just like all the senators'—the regulation two rooms, the usual big desks, all the rest of the massive furniture, and the customary personal, of private secretary and several stenographers.

As you enter, the place seems thoroughly senatorial.

Then, you sense something subtly different. The senatorial bustle's lacking. There's a hint of ennui. Nobody's waiting to see the vice president—a mob's always waiting to see a senator.

There's no current. You're in a governmental back-water.

The reason nobody bothers with the vice president is that he's of no consequence. He can't help anybody. He can't hurt anybody.

More nearly than anything else, he's a senator—just he's an impotent one—no vote, no voice, no nothing—the one denatured individual out of a body of nearly 10, all the rest fairly boiling senatorial life and virility.

If he has any influence at all, it's on the strength of the bare chance that fate will land him in the White House. It isn't much to count on.

Otherwise he's as superfluous in Washington as the vermiform appendix is in the human system.

The senate doesn't need him. Any time he's absent, the "president pro tem"—just now Senator Moses—can run things quite as well as he can—maybe better.

The "president pro tem," now, is a man of consequence. He's recognized as the majority's "big man" in the senate. He has a vote. He has a hand in shaping legislation. He can call a substitute to the chair, in his place, and make a speech. He's a senator "plus."

While Calvin Coolidge was filling out the late President Harding's unfinished White House term, there was, of course, no vice president.

That made the late Senator Albert B. Cummins, who was "president pro tem" at the time, permanent presiding officer of the senate. He was on precise footing, in the upper chamber, of the speaker in the lower one. It's altogether a different thing from the vice presidency—a post of great power and consequence.

In 1925 came the customary quadrennial readjustment.

Vice President Dawes was inducted into office.

The "public printer" issued a new Congressional Directory.

And what do you think happened?

Why, the directory's editors had fallen out of the habit of putting any vice president's name in the volume, during the two years while the country had none, and they clean forgot to include Charles G. Dawes' name in the new one.

That session's first edition came out without it.

The incident aptly illustrates about how much the vice presidency amounts to in the calculations of official Washington.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

THE SAME QUESTION

Letter after letter that I opened today gave me the same question to answer: How can my little friends win the love of certain young men? That would be difficult to answer if I knew both parties, but knowing neither person, I don't know of any better advice, girls, than that old saying: "If you can't have what you like, you must like what you can have."

Incidentally, don't get discouraged. Readers, if your letter does not appear very soon in these columns, we are far behind, in our correspondence, but your answers will appear eventually.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am a girl in my teens, and care for a boy a great deal. I would like to know how I could win his love."

"Broken Hearted."

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I care a great deal for a boy. I would like to know how to win his love. He talks to me, but never asks for a date."

"Broken Hearted Sally."

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I have been keeping company for three months with a young man. We always had good times together, but for no reason that I know of he has quit coming. Dear Mrs. Lee, can you tell me what the reason is for his strange actions? Please tell me what to do."

"C. M. B."

To the first two I would say there is nothing you can do but be jolly and attractive and don't let the boys see you are pining for their love. Boys don't care for girls who run after them, so keep a stiff upper lip and "let concealment, like a worm in the bud, feed on your damask cheeks," if you must. And don't give up hope.

To C. M. B., you will probably meet your former friend before long and you surely have the right to ask him whether you have offended him. Don't pay any attention to his birthday unless he seeks your company again.

Almost every city has a bureau that finds work for handicapped people, E. V. L. T. Find out if there is one in your city and have your boy go there. I certainly don't blame you for wanting him at home with you if possible. Although it is fine for him to learn to be self-supporting and self-reliant. Sales work would be good for him. Perhaps he could join a class where salesmanship is taught. He has certainly been very unfortunate, and I don't wonder you want him with you. I know I should feel the same.

A Broken Hearted Wife has a word to say about girls who are infatuated with married men. She says: "There are two silly girls trying to break up my home. I wonder how they in my position? I told my husband to go, if he wanted either of them, but he said, 'No.' Then, why are you broken hearted, my dear? You should be doubly glad. First that you have an attractive husband, and secondly, that he is true to you."

ORIOLE PLAYS A JOKE

Mr. Oriole who seemed could not control his feelings very well went off into another gust of twitting that shook the twig on which he stood. Then suddenly he sobered up.

"I was thinking how mad the farmer is going to be this summer when I peck holes in the grapes and show the wasps the way into the heart of the plums. When he comes out to scold me I shall drop a plum pit spang—right down on the top of his head. Ha! Ha! He! He! It makes me laugh to think of it."

Mother Flame-Wing joined in Mr. Oriole's glee, and took up the tale of Oriole pranks where the gentleman bird left off.

"I flew off with some bits of bright thread that the farmer's wife had laid out on the porch beside her. And you should have heard her. She tried to seize me, but of course I was too quick. I heard her cry, 'That saucy bird has carried off my last bit of thread. Now I shall have to buy a whole new skein just to finish embroidering this flower.'"

"Oh, it was rare sport to have her chasing me. Poor thing. I really felt sorry for her. As if she could hope to catch me when she had no wings."

"Why, you big tease, you!" Peter laughed at the tales the two birds told. "I should think you would make the farmer mad."

"But for all that, he likes us. What if we do make holes in a few old grapes or plums or eat young green peas once in a while. We more than make up for that by the insects we kill."

"We Orioles fly to the very top of the trees and we dig out all the hateful, harmful grubs that the other birds don't find. As for the caterpillars we destroy—why, we couldn't possibly count them. Farmer knows that in spite of the pranks we sometimes play that we are his good friends after all. Then, besides, we are such beautiful rascals that he can't bear to hurt us. I heard him say that himself."

"THAT SAUCY BIRD HAS CARRIED OFF MY LAST BIT OF SILK THREAD"

"I do believe the crowd is going home," cried Mother Oriole, suddenly. "I want to hear what they thought about the window."

Without another word off she flew to the neighboring branch, and in her wake followed Mr. Oriole.

TRUTHFULNESS BECOMES MORE POPULAR

The tendency in all lines of selling today is away from so-called "trick stuff." It is dangerous to fool a customer into buying anything no matter how meritorious the article may be. On the dining cars of a well known railroad the menu cards used to carry both at noon and in the evening, a line stamped on in red ink: "Special Chicken Dinner Today, $1.25." Then the dining-car conductor called attention to this line, remarking, casually:

"We have a special chicken dinner today. Very nice. Now the idea was to convey to the customer the impression that here was something out of the ordinary. The day before or the day after, or maybe any other day in the year, he might not have an opportunity like this to buy a special chicken dinner on the dining-car at a flat rate. Yet that identical special chicken dinner was on the menu of that railroad twice a day—for both dinner and breakfast—every day in the year, including Sundays and Arbor Day.

Many persons would not buy that special dinner, no matter how much of an inward craving they had for the storage chicken, simply because they thought there was trickery in the method of selling it.

Similarly the public dislikes to have a sale insist on any business method which is too obviously designed solely for the interest of the store rather than for the customer.

I went one day to a candy and soda-water establishment, accompanied by an estimable young woman, intending to buy a round of drinks. I found that none of the salespeople would accept my order until I purchased a check representing the amount of my intended purchase. At that moment neither of us had fully determined just what we were going to drink. We were obliged to confer on this point, and then inquire for price quotations on the drink we had selected, after which it was necessary to go to the cashier and pay thirty cents. I believe it was—for a check. Without this check, paid for in advance, we could not enter into the picture at all. The whole thing suggested a distrust of its customers on the part of the store—as if there was a fear that, having quenched his thirst, a man would pull his hat on tight, and make a quick dash for the door without paying for his drink or his ice cream.

A big store advertised a special mid-summer sale for two weeks, in August, at greatly reduced prices. There was a set of mink furs for $125, which ordinarily sold for $165. The day after the sale had closed, a woman went to that store and sought

PITY THE POOR ESKIMO;

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Hair Line Decisions

Few women realize the importance of the hair line. Though men of all ages have eulogized the heart-shaped face, the peaked face, the flower face, there are still women who need more convincing on the importance of their hair lines.

For, of course, you know (though it's perfectly possible that you don't) that the arrangement of your hair and the way it flows off your forehead fixes the shape of your face.

First in beauty, we have the little peak of hair on the forehead. Of recent years it was called the widow's peak, and it has always been considered absolutely devastating to the eyes, and the hearts of men! If, by chance, you are blessed with the widow's peak, comb your hair straight off your forehead, whatever else you do to the sides. Your brow must influence your hair line. If it is very high and very broad, you will probably bring little waves down over your eye, breaking up the too-wide line.

In suggesting the way to make the best of your hair lines, my advice is "try them all out!" Arrange your mirrors so you can see both back and sides of your hair, and experiment! Try your hair back over your head. Sometimes this is a most attractive arrangement. Try dropping it down over your ears. There are at least a dozen ways which will suggest themselves to you once you are in the actual process of arrangement. And of them all—one is going to suit you exactly. Select it—and then be loyal to it—whatever the style may say!

And now a word or two for that shamefully neglected line at the back of your neck. It is not enough to decide that your hair is bobbed, that points are being worn, and promptly direct your barber to shape your hair in a point in the back. The dressing of your hair is too important a part of your appearance to allow the styles to decide arbitrarily on what cut or arrangement you are to wear.

You would not change your nose because Greek noses are the vogue would you? You know that your face is not a conglomerate mass of features, but that it is a unit of harmony built up point by point. Your hair is an integral part of that harmony. If you care at all for your hair cut with every whim of style, you will endeavor to preserve your individuality instead of becoming all of a piece with the rest of humanity.

If your neck is broad, you will probably look well with the point. If it is long and narrow, a straight line in the back will be best. If you are wise, you will keep away from the downward curve. It is an ugly line to begin with, and the neck is not beautiful enough to bear well under unflattering adornment.

If your hair is long, be careful about the short back hairs. If they curl naturally, so much the better. If not, use a tiny, thin rod, curling iron and curl those unpromising ends! The hair line is very individual. You must study it. If you wish it to flatter your face.

Lines of the face and neck will be the subject of tomorrow's article.

SUGGESTIONS

Storing Galoshes

Brush and clean the overshoes thoroughly both inside and out; then set them in a large, clean paper bag and fold the top of the bag over two or three times and paste down with gummed paper or library paste. Your galoshes are now ready to put away and will be clean and free from moths when you need them again next fall.

Ready-Cut Toast

Poached eggs on toast for an invalid are much easier to eat if the toast is first cut in small squares and then buttered, keeping the shape of the slice intact. Place the egg on the toast, which may be easily broken apart by the person in bed.

DATE SOUFFLE

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

One cup sugar, two eggs, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup English walnuts (quartered), one cup dates, seeded and cut in half. Pour in flat tin and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Cases of permanent injury and death caused by such work, go to your library and get a copy of the October 31, 1925, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association; read Dr. Edward Blaine's article on "Manipulative Dislocations of the Spine."

A few thought this article was directed to the osteopathic profession. It was not. It was directed to the horde of uneducated and unprepared practitioners who claim that all disease is due to subluxations of the spine and pressure of the spinal nerves, and that they can be cured by relief of that pressure.

Sooner or later there is going to be demanded of all schools that teach the healing art the same standard that is demanded by the medical colleges: four years of training in the special college (for it takes at least four years to get the basic sciences that are necessary to practice the healing art, followed by a year's internship in a hospital; and graduation from an accredited high school and at least two years of work in an accredited college, as a matriculation requirement in the special college. Then the title of "Doctor" will assure the patient that he is dealing with a broadly educated, scientific, highly-trained practitioner, who perhaps is specializing in one branch of the healing art. Then the serious results such as referred to in Dr. Blaine's article will not result. Tomorrow: Hives.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, "In turn." Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and two cents in coin for each article to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, ten cents in coin with fully s. a. s. e. must be enclosed. Address: Dr. Peters in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Perched on his platform in the senate chamber, gavel in hand, presiding the vice president gives the impression of a mighty important functionary.

Visitors often wonder why the job's so much poo-pooed by politicians. The politicians are right, however.

What the visitors don't realize is that it's the vice presidential "setting" they're impressed by—not the vice president.

To size up the vice presidency correctly, it's more enlightening to take a look at it outside law-making hours.

The vice president has his personal suite in the Senate Office building. It's just like all the senators'—the regulation two rooms, the usual big desks, all the rest of the massive furniture, and the customary personnel, of private secretary and several stenographers.

As you enter, the place seems thoroughly senatorial.

Then, you sense something subtly different.

The senatorial bustle's lacking. There's a hint of ennui. Nobody's waiting to see the vice president—a mob's always waiting to see a senator.

There's no current. You're in a governmental back-water.

The reason nobody bothers with the vice president is that he's of no consequence. He can't help anybody. He can't hurt anybody.

More nearly than anything else, he's a senator—but he's an impotent one—no vote, no voice, no nothing! That was the one individual out of a body of nearly 100, all the rest fairly boiling senatorial life and virility.

If he has any influence at all, it's on the strength of the bare chance that fate will land him in the White House. It isn't much to count on.

Otherwise he's as superfluous in Washington as the veriform appendix is in the human system.

The senate doesn't need him. Any time he's absent, the "president pro tem" just now Senator Moses—can run things quite as well as he can—maybe better.

The "president pro tem" now, is a man of consequence. He's recognized as the majority's "big man" in the senate. He has a vote. He has a hand in shaping legislation. He can call a substitute to the chair, in his place, and make a speech. He's a senator "plus."

While Calvin Coolidge was filling out the late President Harding's unfinished White House term, there was, of course, no vice president.

That made the late Senator Albert B. Cummins, who was "president pro tem" at the time, permanent presiding officer of the senate. He was on precisely the footing, in the upper chamber, of the speaker, in the lower one. It's altogether a different thing from the vice presidency—a post of great power and consequence.

In 1925 came the customary quadrennial readjustment.

Vice President Dawes was inducted into office.

The "public printer" issued a new Congressional Directory.

And what do you think happened?

Why, the directory's editors had fallen out of the habit of putting any vice president's name in the volume, during the two years while the country had none, and they clean forgot to include Charles G. Dawes' name in the new one.

That session's first edition came out without it.

The incident aptly illustrates about how much the vice presidency amounts to in the actual deliberations of official Washington.

The boys see you are pining for their love. Boys don't care for girls who run after them, so keep a stiff upper lip and "let concealment, like a worm in the bud, feed on your damask cheeks," if you must. And don't give up hope.

To C. M. B., you will probably meet your former friend before long and you surely have the right to ask him whether you have offended him. Don't pay any attention to his birthday unless he seeks your company again!

Almost every city has a bureau that finds work for handicapped people. E. V. L. T. Find out if there is one in your city and have your boy go there. I certainly don't blame you for wanting him at home with you if possible, although it is fine for him to learn to be self-supporting and self-reliant. Sales work would be good for him. Perhaps he could join a class where salesmanship is taught. He has certainly been very unfortunate, and I don't wonder you want him to feel the same. I know I should feel the same.

A Broken Hearted Wife has a word to say about girls who are infatuated with married men. She says: "There are two silly girls trying to break up my home. I wonder how they would like it if they were in my position? I told my husband to go, if he wanted either of them, but he said, 'No!'" Then, why are you broken hearted, my dear? You should be doubly glad. First that you have an attractive husband, and secondly, that he is true to you.

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

ORIOLE PLAYS A JOKE

Mr. Oriole who seemed could not control his feelings very well went off into another gust of wittiering and shook the twig on which he stood. Then suddenly he sobered up.

"I was thinking how mad the farmer is going to be this summer when I peck holes in the grapes and show the wasps the way into the heart of the plums. When he comes out to scold me I shall drop a plum pit spang—right down on the top of his head. Ha! Ha! He! He! It makes me laugh to think of it."

Mother Flame-Wing joined in Mr. Oriole's glee, and took up the tale of Oriole's pranks where the gentleman bird left off.

"I flew off with some bits of bright thread that the farmer's wife had laid out on the porch beside her, and you should have heard her. She tried to seize me, but of course I was too quick. I heard her cry, 'What saucy bird has carried off my last bit of thread. Now I shall have to buy a whole new skein just to finish embroidering this flower!'"

"Oh, it was rare sport to have her chasing me. Poor thing. I really felt sorry for her. As if she could hope to catch me when she had no wings."

"Why, you big tease, you!" Peter laughed at the tales the two told. "I should think you would make the farmer mad."

"But for all that, he likes us. What if we do make holes in a few old grapes or plums or eat young green peas once in a while. We more than make up for that by the insects we kill."

"We Orioles fly to the very top of the trees and we dig out all the hateful, harmful grubs that the other birds don't find. As for the caterpillars we destroy—why, we couldn't possibly count them. Farmer knows that in spite of the pranks we sometimes play that we are his good friends after all. Then, besides, we are such beautiful rascals that he can't bear to hurt us. I heard him say that himself."

"I do believe the crowd is going home," cried Mother Oriole, suddenly. "I want to hear what they thought about the window."

Without another word off she flew to the neighboring branch, and in her wake followed Mr. Oriole.

LEADER OF "BUNION DERBY" FORCED OUT BY DISEASED TEETH

Englishman Gives Up From Exhaustion Along Roadside

FREMONT, O., May 12.—The "bunion derby" streamed out of here for Elvira today with Andrew Payne, the Claremore, Okla., boy, once more at the head of the parade.

The youthful Oklahoma man was in that position by virtue of the ill fortune which finally overtook Peter Gavuzzi, the Southampton, England, runner, and forced him out of the race.

Gavuzzi, who headed the field through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and half of Ohio, was found late yesterday in a ditch, thirty-five miles west of here, calmly smoking a cigarette. He had dropped from sheer exhaustion.

"My teeth," explained the game little runner, "they have been threatening me for two weeks. They finally got me. I haven't been able to eat anything but soup for two weeks. With malnutrition sapping my strength there was nothing to do but quit."

Gavuzzi smiled and said: "I guess I go on the program selling crew now."

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., Finnish-American, was first in the transcontinental grind to reach here over the 64-mile course from Wauson. It was the sixtieth control. Salo's time was 8:58:43. Formerly in third place, Salo is now runnerup to Payne.

The New Jersey Finn's elapsed time for the 268.9 miles from Los Angeles is 46:52:05. Payne's elapsed time is 44:48:05. He finished yesterday in a tie with Phillip Granville, Jamaica, negro, in 10:38:24. Granville is now in third place with an elapsed time of 47:20:42.

Harry Abramowitz, New York, finished fourth in 49:50. His elapsed time is 52:30:42. Increases his grip on tenth place.

Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., and Frank Von Flue, Kerman, Calif., sixth and eleventh in elapsed standings, ran a dead heat for second into Fremont in 9:41:43. Perrella's elapsed time is 49:52:08 and Von Flue's is 53:42:12.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland, finished in 10:59:41 for an elapsed time of 49:51:54.

Gavuzzi was extremely depressed over being forced to give up his chance for the $25,000 grand prize. He suffered from an ulcerated tooth which he refused to allow dentists to pull. The offending molar's gum was lanced early yesterday and afforded the runner temporary relief.

ALL OUT-DOORS AND WHERE TO GO

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of weekly articles on conservation and on where to go for good hunting and fishing, and other forms of outdoor recreation written for International News Service by James W. Stuber, well known authority on the out-of-doors. Mr. Stuber has been actively interested in forest, game and wild life conservation not only in Ohio, but in a national way for many years. He is a member of the editorial staff of Sportsman's Digest, secretary of the Ohio Conservation Council, secretary of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, a member of the American Game Protective Association, and also a member of The Outdoor Writers Association of America. His articles on big game hunting, fishing, campcraft, woodcraft and conservation appear in many leading outdoor magazines and newspapers in the United States and Canada. By clipping the articles and pasting them in a scrapbook as they appear the reader can soon build up an outdoor reference book that will contain valuable information and suggestions from this authoritative source.)

Written for I. N. S. By JAMES W. STUBER

Two hundred million dollars were spent by sportsmen and tourists from the United States in Canada last year, according to reports from Canadian authorities. This enormous sum was spent for sport in one form or another. A large portion was spent by hunters and fishermen from this side of the border. The amount staggers the imagination, but it shows the interest in outdoor recreation in America. Her forests, her parks, her resources of fish and game to attract American outdoor men and women is said to be Canada's third largest revenue producing asset. At least fifty per cent of the $200,000,000 came from the middle western states of which Ohio is one, and Ohio probably contributes as much of the $200,000,000 as any other state unless it be Illinois or New York.

There are 6,500,000 licensed hunters in the United States according to the American Game Protective Association. Some authorities say there are 30,000,000 fishermen in the United States. More and more each year Americans are seeking recreation in the outdoors. And there is no greater incentive to take men and women to the outdoors than good hunting and fishing. Our pioneer forefathers hunted and fished through necessity, to provide themselves with food and clothing. The American of today hunts and fishes for recreation. Throughout the United States sportsmen and nature lovers are organizing fish and game protective associations andzaak Watson chapters, for the purpose of conserving the resources of fish, game, forests and pure waters, that this form of recreation may be perpetuated and passed on to future generations. Ohio alone has at least 100,000 organized sportsmen who have banded together in organizations of one kind or another with ideals of true sportsmanship, through which they are promoting respect for the land owners' rights, and conservation of wild life, along with their desire to enjoy a reasonable amount of hunting and fishing, as a means of outdoor recreation. Ohio has the neighborhood of 400,000 licensed hunters, and some authorities say there are half a million fishermen in the Buckeye state most of whom do most of their fishing in Ohio. These estimates give an idea of the great interest in recreation with rod and gun, and at the same time bring to mind the dire necessity for conservation of wild life and the habits in which it lives if this form of recreation is to continue.

Hunting and fishing as a means of healthful recreation will help to maintain a nation of rugged outdoor men and women, and to keep alive the pioneer spirit of our forefathers. But if one wants to hunt and fish in Ohio where are the places to go? For the benefit of thousands of Ohio outdoors we are going to name the places and the way to get there in this "All Outdoors" series. If you clip these articles and paste them in a scrapbook, you will have a collection that will be helpful in planning week end trips or a summer vacation this year. Here are a few good places to begin with:

Buckeye Lake: (Licking and Fairfield Counties) 3,000 acres. By motor: National Pike through Columbus or Zanesville to Buckeye Lake. Train: electric lines from Columbus, Newark or Zanesville to Buckeye Lake.

Steam lines: T. and O. C. to Millersport. Good location for large mouth black bass, crappies, bluegills, catfish, ring perch, and white bass. W. H. Nelberg, post master at Buckeye Lake could give information as to locations and guides.

Indian Lake: (Logan County) 6,000 acres. By motor: Through Bellefontaine or Lima, to Lake View or Russell's Point. Electric from Lima or via Columbus, Springfield or Bellefontaine. Steam lines: Via Bellefontaine or Wapakoneta to Lake View or Russell's Point. Locations: Lake Ridge, Orchard Island, Turkey Foot, Lake View or Russell's Point. Good locations for large mouth black bass, pickerel, sunfish, catfish and crappies. Guides available at all the above places. Boats, camp sites, cottages and hotels.

Loramie Reservoir: (Shelby and Auglaize Counties) about 2,000 acres. Motor: Via Sidney and Wapakoneta to St. Marys, and to Ft. Loramie. There are probably more large mouth black bass in Loramie Reservoir per acre than any other lake in Ohio. Crappies are also plentiful and catfish are abundant. Bluegills are scarce. Good camping sites and cottages but no hotels at the lake. Loramie Reservoir has many stumps, logs and natural cover. Fish are never been spoiled by motor boats. Filburns or Shotts Landing are good locations for bass fishing. Other good locations will be given in the next article.

FIVE AMERICAN WOMEN ENTER BRITISH OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

HUNSTANTON, Norfolk, Eng., May 12.—Five Americans are entered in the British ladies' open golf championship which will open here on Monday and extend to May 18. There is a record number of entries—168. In addition to the five Americans, five French players, three Australians and one German will compete.

The five American aspirants are: Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I.; Miss Elizabeth Curtis, of Clinton, Iowa; Mrs. Stewart

Hanley, of the Lochmoor Club; Miss Madge Miller, of the Oakland Hills Club, and Mrs. D. Campbell Hurd, of the Merion Club. Neither Miss Cecil Lettich nor Miss Joyce Wethered will take part.

The outstanding match of the tournament is likely to be that between Mrs. Simone Thion De La Chaume, the French and British open champion, and Miss Collett. Two rounds will be played on Monday, one on Tuesday, two each on Wednesday and Thursday and the 36 hole final on Friday.

Bowling

The Xenia Recreation quintet posed out a surprising victory over the Dayton Tellings, considered the best bowling team in Dayton, in an inter-city match at the Recreation Parlors here Friday night.

Rolling a three-game total of 2,877, Xenia won the match by a margin of fourteen pins. Xenia had games of 891, 1,032 and 964; Dayton, bowling below expected form, recorded games of 929, 992 and 942.

Al Regan, anchor man, topped Xenia with a fine series of 616, including scores of 159, 202 and 255. Probat led Dayton with 608 followed by Seibert with 604.

Box score:

Dayton	Xenia
Gaylor	181 185 189
Worthington	222 204 163
Hamilton	144 185 173
Probat	190 203 215
Seibert	192 215 197
Totals	929 992 942

Xenia lost the match 9 to 3. Nassau county. Piqua, undefeated this season, is represented by probably the strongest team in the league.

William Clemans and Charles Karch scored all of Xenia's points. Clemans registered a birdie four on the 490-yard No. 5 hole, getting off a 300-yard drive. Wilcox was the star of the Piqua team.

Central golfers were off form. Room for improvement was noted particularly in their approach and iron shots. The players were driving and putting well.

The Xenia team was composed of Abe Rakoff, William Clemans, Collins Lorimer and Charles Karch. Xenia has arranged a non-league golf match with Stivers High School of Dayton for next Monday afternoon.

Piqua defeated Stivers last week which gives rise to a hope for a Xenia victory, which would avenge, in a measure, a basketball defeat last season.

This was Xenia's first opportunity to engage in a Miami Valley League golf match so far this season. Three other scheduled matches were postponed for one reason or another and the team has consequently suffered from want of competition, although practice has been indulged in at intervals in the hope that eventually a match would be played.

DAYTON QUOT TEAM COMPETES IN XENIA

South Park of Dayton will appear here Monday night for an inter-city Miami Valley League quoit match with the Xenia Quoit Club. It is announced by Clarence Patterson, captain of the local team.

This will be Xenia's first home match of the season and the second on the schedule. The match will be played at the local quoit grounds on E. Market St., and will start at 8 o'clock.

Xenia got off to somewhat of a bad start last week in its first match at Springfield, losing by a score of 5 to 2, but hopes to redress itself Monday night with the advantage of pitching on familiar courts.

NEW SOFTBALL LOOP OPENS SEASON HERE WITH GAME MONDAY

No formal ceremonies have been arranged in connection with the inauguration of play in the National and American League Softball Leagues here next week.

The American League opens its season Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field with the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, time-honored athletic rivals, meeting in the first game at 6 o'clock.

Rotarians and Kiwanians opened the season last year. Each team is not only hoping for but is confidently predicting victory.

The Carroll-Binder Co. plays the Lang Chevrolet Co. in the other American League match of the week Tuesday night. Hudson-Essex will be idle the first week.

The schedule in the National League opens Wednesday night with the Firemen engaging the Xenia Central High School team.

Postponed of the National League match of the week Tuesday night, the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, time-honored athletic rivals, meeting in the first game at 6 o'clock.

WILBERFORCE TAKES TENNIS MATCH WITH ANTIOCH STARS

Wilberforce University's tennis team defeated Antioch College 4 to 3 in a match played on the courts at Yellow Springs Thursday afternoon.

Wilberforce won three of the five singles matches and broke even in two doubles events.

Ted Thompson, national tennis champion among colored colleges and captain of the Wilberforce team, defeated Rutman, native of India and star of the Antioch team, in one of the singles matches.

Captain Thompson was extended to three sets in order to give the Antioch player the first setback he has received since entering college. Thompson won by scores of 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Marco Hill of Wilberforce defeated Goodman of Antioch in another three-set single match, 6-1, 4-6, 8-6. Scott gave Wilberforce its third victory in the singles by triumphing over Wilcox of Antioch after a hard-fought match, 6-4, 5-7, 8-6.

Antioch's two singles victories were recorded by Sloan and Kummer. Sloan beat Gibbs of Wilberforce in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. Kummer also won his match in two sets, defeating Ginn of Wilberforce, 6-3, 6-2.

In one of the doubles matches, Captain Thompson, paired with Hill, won from Rutman and Goodman of Antioch, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Kummer and Sloan of Antioch stroked their way to straight set victory over Scott and Gibbs of Wilberforce.

For the purpose of providing entertainment and a "treat" for the children, members of the Clifford Thompson Post of the American Legion and their families at Troy are expected to pay a visit to the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan's Home here Sunday.

LEADER OF "BUNION DERBY" FORCED OUT BY DISEASED TEETH

Englishman Gives Up From Exhaustion Along Roadside

FREMONT, O., May 12.—The "bunion derby" streamed out of here for Elyria today with Andrew Payne, the Claremore, Okla., boy, once more at the head of the pack. The youthful Oklahoman was in that position by virtue of the ill fortune which finally overtook Peter Gavuzzi, the Southampton, England, runner, and forced him out of the race.

Gavuzzi, who headed the field through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and half of Ohio, was found late yesterday in a ditch, thirty-five miles west of here, calmly smoking a cigar. He had dropped from sheer exhaustion.

"My teeth!" explained the game little runner. "They have been threatening me for two weeks. They finally got me. I haven't been able to eat anything but soup for two weeks. With malnutrition sapping my strength, there was nothing to do but quit."

Queried as to his future plans, Gavuzzi smiled and said: "I guess I go on the program-selling crew now."

John Salo, of Pacific, N. J., Finnish-American, was first in the transcontinental grind to reach here over the 64.7-mile course from Wauseon. It was the sixty-ninth control. Salo's time was 8:58:43. Formerly in third place, Salo is now runner-up to Payne.

The New Jersey Finn's elapsed time for the 265.2 miles from Los Angeles is 46:52:05. Payne's elapsed time is 44:48:05. He finished yesterday in a tie with Phillip Granville, Jamaica negro, 10:38:24. Granville was in third place with an elapsed time of 47:20:42.

Harry Abramowitz, New York, finished fourth in 9:49:50. His elapsed time of 52:13:43 increases his grip on tenth place.

Louis Ferrer, Albany, N. Y., and Frank Von Flue, Kerman, Calif., sixth and eleventh in elapsed standings, ran a dead heat for second in 9:41:43.

Perrella's elapsed time is 49:25:08 and Von Flue's is 53:42:19.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland finished in 10:59:41 for an elapsed time of 49:25:14.

Gavuzzi was extremely depressed over being forced to give up his chance for the $25,000 grand prize. He suffered from an ulcerated tooth which he refused to allow dentists to pull. The offending molar's gum was lanced early yesterday and afforded the runner temporary relief.

ALL OUT-DOORS AND WHERE TO GO

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of weekly articles on conservation and on where to go for good hunting and fishing, and other forms of outdoor recreation written for International News Service by James W. Stuber, well known authority on the out-of-doors. Mr. Stuber has been actively interested in forest, game and wild life conservation not only in Ohio but in a national way for many years. He is a member of the editorial staff of Sportsman's Digest, secretary of the Ohio Conservation Council, secretary of the league of Ohio Sportsmen, a member of the American Game Protective Association, and also a member of The Outdoor Writers Association of America. His articles on big game hunting, fishing, camping, woodcraft and conservation appear in many leading outdoor magazines and newspapers in the United States and Canada. By clipping the articles and pasting them in a scrapbook as they appear the reader can soon build up an outdoor reference book that will contain valuable information and suggestions from this authoritative source.)

Written for I. N. S. By JAMES W. STUBER

Two hundred million dollars were spent by sportsmen and tourists from the United States in Canada last year, according to reports from Canadian authorities. This enormous sum was spent for many different purposes. A large portion was spent by hunters and fishermen from this side of the border. The amount staggers the imagination, but it shows the interest in outdoor recreation in America. Her forests, her parks, her resources of fish and game to attract American outdoor men and women is said to be Canada's third largest revenue producing asset. At least fifty per cent of the $200,000,000 came from the middle western states of which Ohio is one, and Ohio probably contributes as much of the $200,000,000 as any other state unless it be Illinois or New York.

There are 6,500,000 licensed hunters in the United States according to the American Game Protective Association. Some authorities say there are 30,000,000 fishermen in the United States. More and more each year Americans are seeking recreation in the outdoors. And there is no greater incentive to take men and women to the outdoors than good hunting and fishing. Our pioneer forefathers hunted and fished for recreation, to provide themselves with food and clothing. The American of today hunts and fishes for recreation. Throughout the United States sportsmen and nature lovers are organizing fish and game protective associations and clubs. These organizations are for the purpose of conserving the resources of fish, game, forests and pure waters, that this form of recreation may be perpetuated and passed on to future generations. Ohio alone has at least 100,000 organized sportsmen who have banded together in organizations of one kind or another with ideals of true sportsmanship, through which they are promoting respect for the land owners' rights, and conservation of wild life, along with their desire to enjoy a reasonable amount of hunting and fishing, as a means of outdoor recreation. Ohio has in the neighborhood of 400,000 licensed hunters, and some authorities say there are half a million fishermen in the Buckeye state most of whom do most of their fishing in Ohio. These estimates give an idea of the great interest in recreation with rod and gun, and at the same time bring to mind the dire necessity for conservation of wild life and the habits in which it lives if this form of recreation is to continue.

Hunting and fishing as a means of healthful recreation will help to maintain a nation of rugged outdoor men and women, and to keep alive the pioneer spirit of our forefathers. But if one wants to hunt and fish in Ohio where are the places to go? For the benefit of thousands of Ohio outdoors we are going to name the places and the way to get there in this "All Outdoors" series. If you clip these articles and paste them in a scrapbook, you will have a collection that will be helpful in planning week end trips or a summer vacation this year. Here are a few good places to begin with:

Buckeye Lake: (Licking and Fairfield Counties) 3,000 acres. By motor: National Pike through Columbus or Zanesville, to Buckeye Lake P. O. Thompson, or Millersburg. From Newark or Zanesville to Buckeye Lake.

Steam lines: T. and O. C. to Millersport. Good location for large mouth black bass, crappies, bluegills, catfish, ring perch, and white bass. J. H. Neiberg, postmaster at Buckeye Lake could give information as to locations and guides.

Indian Lake: (Logan County) 6,000 acres. By motor: Through Bellefontaine, or Lima, to Lake View or Russell's Point. Electric line to Lake Columbus, Springfield or Bellefontaine. Steam lines: Via Bellefontaine or Wapakoneta to Lake View or Russell's Point. Locations: Lake Ridge, Orchard Island, Turkey Foot, Lake View or Russell's Point. Good locations for large mouth black bass, crappies, sunfish, catfish and crappies. Guides available at all the above places. Boats, camp sites, cottages and hotels.

Loramie Reservoir: (Shelby and Auglaize Counties) about 2,000 acres. Motor: via Sidney and Wapakoneta to St. Marys, and to Pt. Loramie. There are probably more large mouth black bass in Loramie Reservoir per acre than any other lake in Ohio. Crappies are also plentiful and catfish are abundant. Bluegills are scarce. Good camping sites and cottages but no hotels at the lake. Loramie Reservoir has many stumps, logs and natural cover and has never been spoiled by motor boats. Fillburn or Shorts Landing are good locations for bass fishing. Other good locations will be given in the next article.

ENTERED IN RACE
AKRON, O., May 12. — George Souder, winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile classic in 1927, is one of the entrants in the 100-mile automobile race at the Cleveland-Akron speedway today. Wilbur Shaw, who came in fourth at the Indianapolis races last year will also compete. It was announced by those in charge of the race.

FIVE AMERICAN WOMEN ENTER BRITISH OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

HUNSTANTON, Norfolk, Eng., May 12.—Five Americans are entered in the British ladies' open golf championship which will open here on Monday and extend to May 18. There is a record number of entries—168. In addition to the five Americans, five French players, three Australians and one German will compete.

The five American aspirants are: Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I.; Miss Elizabeth Curtis, of Clinton, Iowa; Mrs. Stewart

Hanley, of the Lochmoor Club; Miss Madge Miller, of the Oakland Hills Club; and Mrs. D. Campbell Hurd, of the Merion Club. Neither Miss Cecil Leitch nor Miss Joyce Wethered will take part.

The outstanding match of the tournament is likely to be that between Mrs. Simon Thion De La Chaume, the French and British open champion, and Miss Collett.

Two rounds will be played on Monday, one on Tuesday, two each on Wednesday and Thursday and the 36 hole final on Friday.

Bowling

The Xenia Recreation quintet nosed out a surprising victory over the Dayton Telligs, considered the best bowling team in Dayton, in an inter-city match at the Recreation Parlors here Friday night.

Rolling a three-game total of 2,877, Xenia won the match by a margin of fourteen pins. Xenia had games of 891, 1,032 and 964. Dayton, bowling below expected form, recorded games of 929, 992 and 942.

Al Regan, anchor man, topped Xenia with a fine series of 616, including scores of 159, 202 and 255. Probat led Dayton with 608 followed by Seibert with 604.

Lack of practice was held as one of the contributing factors in the first defeat sustained by Xenia Central High School's golf team in a Miami Valley League match with Piqua High School over the Piqua Country Club course Friday afternoon.

Xenia lost the match 9 to 3. Nassau count. Piqua, undefeated this season, is represented by probably the strongest team in the league.

William Clemans and Charles Karch scored all of Xenia's points. Clemans registered a birdie four on the 490-yard No. 5 hole, getting off a 300-yard drive. Wilcox was the star of the Piqua team.

Central golfers were off form. Room for improvement was noticed particularly in their approach and iron shots. The players were driving and putting well.

The Xenia team was composed of Ed Baker, William Clemans, Collins Lorimer and Charles Karch. Xenia has arranged a non-league golf match with Stivers High School of Dayton for next Monday afternoon. Piqua defeated Stivers last week, which gives rise to a hope for a Xenia victory, which will be the first game at 6 o'clock.

Rotarians and Kiwanians opened the season last year. Each team is not only hoping for but is confidently predicting victory.

The Carroll-Binder Co. plays the Lang Chevrolet Co. In the other American League match of the week Tuesday night. Hudson Essex will be idle the first week.

The schedule in the National League opens Wednesday night with the Firemen engaging the Xenia Central High School team. The Downtown Country Club, which won the city softball championship last season under the name of the Junior Business Men, plays the Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity nine Thursday night. Friday night St. Bridg High School takes on the Harness Cigar Store team.

Paul Turnbull will umpire the Rotary-Kiwanis game Monday night. All league games will start promptly at 6 o'clock.

South Park of Dayton will appear here Monday night for an inter-city Miami Valley League golf match with the Xenia Quoit Club. It is announced by Clarence Patterson, captain of the local team.

This will be Xenia's first home match of the season and the second on the schedule. The match will be played at the local quoit grounds on E. Market St., and will start at 8 o'clock.

Xenia got off to somewhat of a bad start last week in its first match at Springfield, losing by a score of 5 to 2, but hopes to redeem itself Monday night with the advantage of pitching on familiar courts.

Kenia got off to somewhat of a bad start last week in its first match at Springfield, losing by a score of 5 to 2, but hopes to redeem itself Monday night with the advantage of pitching on familiar courts.

—Joseph "Jumping Joe" Dugan, third baseman of the New York Yankees, was born at Mahoney, Pa., 1897.

—Jess Willard knocked out Floyd Johnson and Luis Firpo knocked out Jack McAuliffe in the same ring in New York, 1923.

—Frank "Dutch" Henry, pitcher born in 1902. He started his professional career in 1920.

—Player Bottenus of the Buffalo Eastern League club, hit four home runs in a game, 1895.

—Thirty men were left on base in a game between the Philadelphia and Detroit American League teams, 1916. A record.

—Barl McNeely, outfielder of the Washington Americans, was born at Sacramento, Cal., 1899.

—Chief Bender pitched a no-hit, no run game for the Philadelphia Americans against Chicago, 1910. Score, 4-0.

Athletics first baseman and utility, was born at Stoney Point, N. C., 1898.

At one time this season all eight of the New York-Pennsylvania League teams were tied for first place with an even percentage of 500.

A prize list of ninety classes is offered for the Westchester County, New York, horse show in June.

Ed. Morris, Boston Americans rookie pitcher, was an airman in the marine corps for two years.

Capt. Philip Helmbold, of the thirty-sixth infantry, has been appointed coach of polo at New York University.

WILBERFORCE TAKES TENNIS MATCH WITH ANTIOCH STARS

Wilberforce University's tennis team defeated Antioch College 4 to 3 in a match played on the courts at Yellow Springs Thursday afternoon.

Wilberforce won three of the five singles matches and broke even in two doubles events.

Ted Thompson, national tennis champion among colored colleges and captain of the Wilberforce team, defeated Rutman, native of India and star of the Antioch team, in one of the singles matches.

Captain Thompson was extended to three sets in order to give the Antioch player the first setback he has received since entering college. Thompson won by scores of 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Macco Hill of Wilberforce defeated Goodman of Antioch in another three-set single match, 6-1, 4-6, 8-6. Scott gave Wilberforce its third victory in the singles by triumphing over Wilcox of Antioch after a hard-fought match, 6-4, 5-7, 8-6.

Antioch's two singles victories were recorded by Sloan and Kumlir. Sloan beat Gibbs of Wilberforce in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. Kumlir also won his match in two sets, defeating Ginn of Wilberforce, 6-3, 6-2.

In one of the doubles matches, Captain Thompson, paired with Hill, won from Rutman and Goodman and Goodman of Antioch, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Kumlir and Sloan of Antioch stroked their way to a straight set victory over Scott and Gibbs of Wilberforce, 6-3, 6-2.

For the purpose of providing entertainment and a "treat" for the children, members of the Clifford Thompson Post of the American Legion and their families at Troy are expected to pay a visit to the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan's Home here Sunday.

Mother's Day was selected as the date for making the trip inasmuch as it is felt this is the most appropriate time to bring cheer to the children of the institution.

Who's Who and Timely Views

VIEWS ON NICARAGUAN SITUATION EXPRESSED

By FRANK B. KELLOGG
Secretary of State

(Frank B. Kellogg was born in Potsdam, N. Y., in 1856. He was graduated from McGill University and was admitted to the bar in 1877. Kellogg served as city attorney at Rochester, Minn., for three years, later moving to St. Paul, and establishing a law firm. He was associated with many prominent legal cases and investigations during his legal career. Kellogg served as U. S. senator from Minnesota from 1917 to 1923, and was appointed ambassador to Great Britain in 1924. He has been secretary of state since 1925.)

There is now in Nicaragua a government duly recognized by the United States government which is functioning as the government of that country. There is no condition in Nicaragua which can properly be described as "marine rule." The marines are in Nicaragua at the invitation of President Diaz for the purpose of assisting the government to restore and maintain order, in order that free and fair elections under American supervision may be held during the current year.

The United States is not at war with Nicaragua, and the most friendly relations exist between the governments of the United States and Nicaragua.

The primary responsibility for maintaining order in Nicaragua rests upon the Nicaraguan national guard, but until that organization has reached a point in its training and equipment where it can take over the entire policing of the country, it is necessary for the American armed forces to co-operate with the national guard in the maintenance of order. The operations of the marines are confined to a comparatively limited section of the whole territory of Nicaragua, the only section in which banditry and disorder exist.

STANLEY ARANOFF

JUST WHAT DO YOU GUYS WANT?

He decided to change the awkward situation, so he opened his date shop—an establishment where the lonely ones can leave their names and complete descriptions, happy in the knowledge that soon they will be dated with another of like habits, looks and size.

Does Great Business

The date shop is doing a great business. Many students have met their match and quite a few are reported on the verge of taking the vow. Happiness reigns on Badger campus.

Aranoff is careful never to date tall girls with short men or a gangling youth with a ponderous piano punisher. "Dates that don't disappoint," is the motto.

His fee? None—likes to see them happy, that's all.

PICK BEST SYRUP

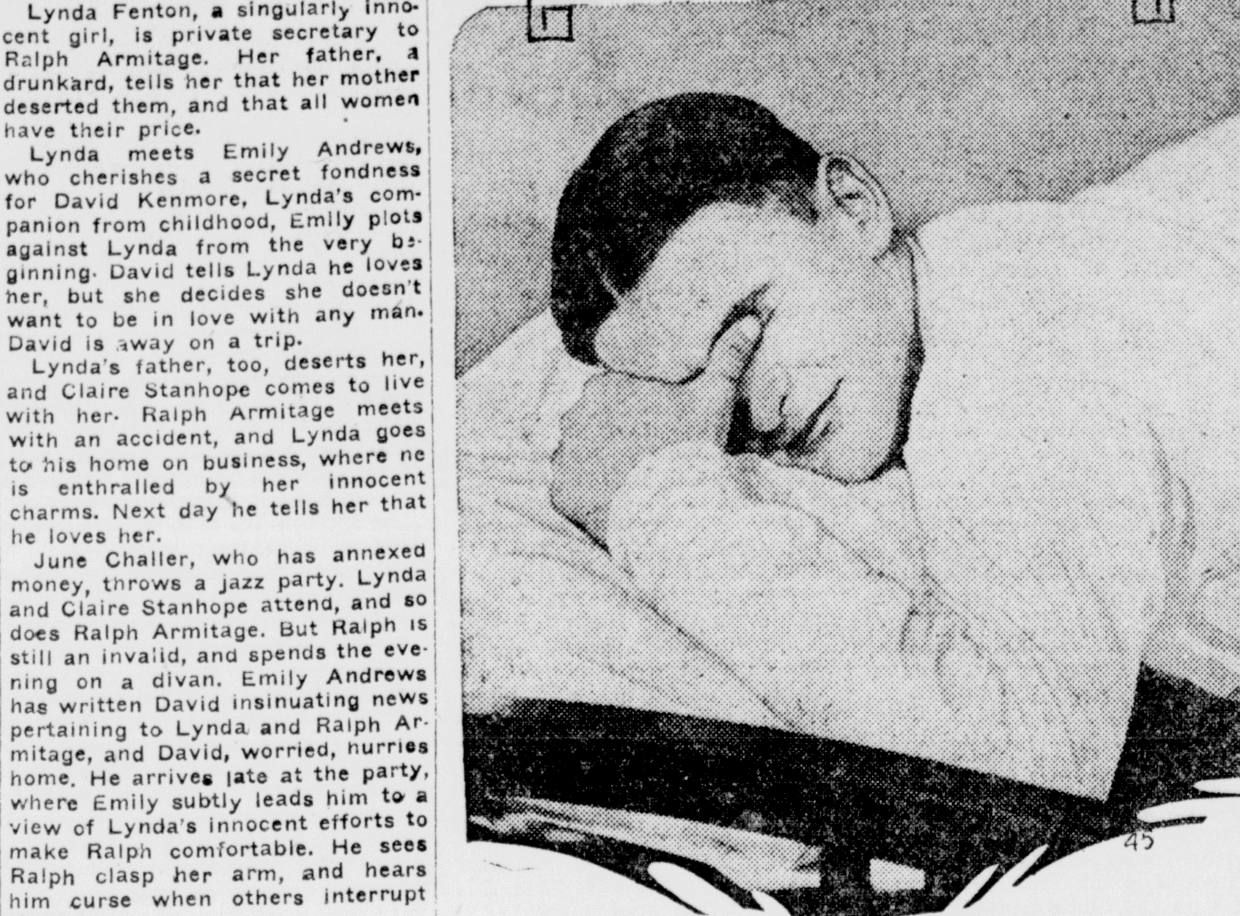

CHARDON, O., May 12.—A tri-state contest was being planned here to be held between New York, Vermont and Ohio to determine which of these states produces the best maple products.

The contest is to be held at the next annual maple festival to be held here in April, 1929.

Student social life stagnation, is the way Aranoff labeled conditions.

SWEETHEARTS

AUTHOR of "MY SON'S SWEETHEARTS," "CONFESSIONS OF A WIFE," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:
Lynda Fenton, a singularly innocent girl, is private secretary to Ralph Armitage. Her father, a drunkard, tells her that her mother deserted them, and that all women have their price.

Lynda meets Emily Andrews, who cherishes a secret fondness for David Kenmore, Lynda's companion from childhood. Emily plots against Lynda from the very beginning. David tells Lynda he loves her, but she decides she doesn't want to be in love with any man. David is away on a trip.

Lynda's father, too, deserts her, and Claire Stanhope comes to live with her. Ralph Armitage meets with an accident, and Lynda goes to his home on business, where he is enthralled by her innocent charms. Next day he tells her that he loves her.

June Challer, who has annexed money, throws a jazz party. Lynda and Claire Stanhope attend, and so does Ralph Armitage. But Ralph is still an invalid, and spends the evening on a divan. Emily Andrews has written David insinuating news pertaining to Lynda and Ralph Armitage, and David, worried, hurries home. He arrives late at the party, where Emily subtly leads him to a view of Lynda's innocent efforts to make Ralph comfortable. He sees Ralph clasp her arm, and hears his curse when others interrupt them.

He rushes in, Ralph rises, then collapses. Lynda spurns David. (Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XLV
MUTUAL MISUNDERSTANDING
Claire Stanhope questioned Ralph Armitage's motives, and now that she had voiced her opinion, "This is the trouble, Claire," he said, "The reason Ralph fell so hard for the little Fenton girl is because she did not run after him. Anyone want me to take them home? My car is right outside."

"Yes, Hal. I'm anxious to get back as soon as Lynda," Claire sat up with a jump that threatened to dislocate her spine.

They had hardly left before there was a ring at the front door. A clever-looking boy pushed himself into the room. "I am Janson of the Press. I heard that Ralph Armitage has been recently murdered by one of his employees. Will you please tell me about it?"

There was a conspicuous silence. "May I speak to Miss Challer?" "I am Miss Challer."

"I would like to know what happened here this evening, Miss Challer."

"I had a little jazz party," "And then, Miss Challer?" "Well, you can see, can't you?" "Wasn't Mr. Ralph Armitage here?"

"Yes, but as you know, he was recently in an automobile accident and, unfortunately, he had another fall here as he tried to get off the divan. So he was taken home early."

"Whom was he trying to hit, Miss Challer?" "I don't know what you are trying to find out, but there is one thing I can tell you. I did not see Mr. Armitage try to hit anyone. I presume you can get confirmation of what I am saying from Mr. Armitage, himself."

"What was the name of the girl whom Mr. Armitage brought with him, Miss Challer?" "He did not bring anyone. He came in his town car, and after his fall was taken away in an ambulance. Good evening."

The moment that the reporter was outside the door, June flew to the telephone, called up the hospital, and brought the doctor to the phone and told him all about the reporter and her story.

"I don't believe you can keep it from the papers, Miss Challer, but I'll back you up here. Ralph is perfectly conscious now, and he will be all right, except that this last little fracas will keep him in the hospital at least two weeks longer. I will ring off now, for I want to match up our stories with Miss Fenton. Ralph keeps asking for her, but she must not come here until this unfortunate affair has blown over and been forgotten."

When Claire and Hal reached Lynda's cottage they found Lynda lying asleep in the old hammock. Her cheeks were still wet, and her breath came in little sobs as she thought of a girl child when she first finds that her dolly is filled with sawdust.

Hal went forward to wake her up, but Claire held up her hand. "Let her sleep, Hal. She has just had one of the greatest disappointments of her life. She has faith in her friend, and found that no pleasure can be, by any circumstance, what one might imagine it to be."

Claire held out her hand. Hal accepted it as he went into the house and brought out a blanket and softly covered her with it. With a sigh she turned into the house, leaving the front door open.

Although David Kenmore took off his clothes and went to bed as soon as he arrived home, he could not sleep.

Finally he got up, dressed and walked the block that lay between his house and Lynda's cottage. The house was dark. He stood at back for this. What other young man would make his passion wait upon his reason? As David asked himself that question he groaned aloud. He now knew that love never waited on anything. It was not only blind, but unreasonable, as well, and because he had been so proud of his own strength it had turned upon him and had laid him low.

He was to blame for all of this trouble when he might have taken care of her. He allowed her to go out among dangers she knew nothing about. If she meant what she said, he had lost her—lost Lynda, whom he now knew he looked upon as his all, his life.

David Kenmore went back to his own cheerless home, flung himself upon his bed, and mercifully the tears came to save his smarting eyes.

WILL BE CEDARVILLE MAY QUEEN

Students of Cedarville College have selected Miss Mary Webster, Clifton, senior, as their 1928 May queen.

In this capacity, Miss Webster will preside over the annual Cedarville exercises, featuring commencement week activities at the college.

A feature of the ceremony will be her crowning as queen of the May by Miss May McKay, Kingman, O., last year's May queen.

Miss Webster has been extremely popular during her four years in college and has taken a prominent part in scholastic activities.

She is the present editor of "Cedarus," college annual, and is also president of the College Y. W. C. A. Last year she served as president of the Philadelphia Literary Society, one of the two college societies.

DOGS MENACE SHEEP

"Stray dogs of the killer type," declares the Division of Animal Industry, "is representative of almost as serious a menace to the Ohio sheep industry as the major sheep diseases. Each year thousands of sheep are killed by stray dogs, which constitute one of the serious checks to profitable sheep raising. The owners of sheep thus slain are intended by law to be recompensed from the dog license fund of the county. However, in some counties, the losses exceed the available funds, so much so that some cases, sheep loss claims must be discounted as much as fifty or sixty per cent."

Sheep scab, footrot and parasitism also constitute serious menace to successful sheep raising. The Division of Animal Industry is called upon to make a great many investigations as to sheep diseases.

When an infectious, contagious disease is found the entire flock is quarantined and treated under the direction or supervision of a veterinarian from the Division. This veterinarian is specially trained in diagnosing and treating diseases of sheep. Not only does the Division quarantine the flock but it also lends assistance to the owner in the controlling and eradicating of the disease in the flock.

It is the legal duty of all flock owners, upon suspecting a contagious, infectious disease in their flocks, to call in the local veterinarian. If he confirms the suspicion, he would have been by law the flock owner are obliged by law to make an immediate report to the Division of Animal Industry at Columbus. Working in cooperation with the local veterinarian and the veterinarian assigned by the Division of Animal Industry to the case, it is decidedly advisable for an owner to handle on his own farm any unfortunate condition arising in his flock.

Recently an Ohio sheep raiser sought to side-step his responsibility in this connection, and accordingly sent to the Cleveland market a carload of sheep affected with scabies. It proved to be a case of out of the frying pan into the fire, however.

By the time the stock yards company had charged him with the expense of cleaning and disinfecting the car, the yards, and the chutes occupied by these sheep, there was a very small sum left for the seller. As a straight business matter, it would have been much more profitable for him to have handled the diseased condition of his flock on his own farm.

Who's Who in Timely Views

VIEWS ON NICARAGUAN SITUATION EXPRESSED

By FRANK B. KELLOGG Secretary of State

(Frank B. Kellogg was born in Potsdam, N. Y., in 1856. He was graduated from McGill University and was admitted to the bar in 1877. Kellogg served as city attorney at Rochester, Minn., for three years, later moving to St. Paul, and establishing a law firm. He was associated with many prominent legal cases and investigations during his legal career. Kellogg served as U. S. senator from Minnesota from 1917 to 1923, and was appointed ambassador to Great Britain in 1924. He has been secretary of state since 1925.)

There is now in Nicaragua a government widely recognized by the United States government which is functioning as the government of that country. There is no condition in Nicaragua which can properly be described as "marine rule." The marines are in Nicaragua at the invitation of President Diaz for the purpose of assisting the government to restore and maintain order, in order that free and fair elections under American supervision may be held during the current year.

The United States is not at war with Nicaragua, and the most friendly relations exist between the governments of the United States and Nicaragua.

The primary responsibility for maintaining order in Nicaragua rests upon the Nicaraguan national guard, but until that organization has reached a point in its training and equipment where it can take over the entire policing of the country, it is necessary for the American armed forces to co-operate with the national guard in the maintenance of order. The operations of the marines are confined to a comparatively limited section of the whole territory of Nicaragua, the whole of which is in a state of disorder.

JUST WHAT DO YOU GUYS WANT?

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Gazette

MADISON, Wis., May 12—

"Wanna blonde?"

"Red-headed?"

"Book roser?"

"Cute but quiet?"

"Wazzat? Okay! Here you are—Jenny Jumpup, 41144 Gargle-snuffle street, phone Wahoo O-O-Yo-Ho."

And another soul, swathed in grizzly bear garment and iron hat, staggers into the night made supremely happy by visions of a nifty day, and a full evening ahead.

It's a "Date" Shop

Stanley Aronoff, sophomore of the University of Wisconsin, brings joy and friendship into otherwise faded and friendless lives of shy and unknown students and co-eds.

Aronoff is a campus lifter. He worried long and late over the sad fate of the dormitory boys, shorn of social glitter, and yearning to meet some "nice kid" and of many co-eds longing for a chance to meet a good boy and see a show now and then.

Student social life stagnation, is the way Aronoff labeled conditions.

He decided to change the awkward situation, so he opened his date shop—an establishment where the lonely ones can leave their names and complete descriptions, happy in the knowledge that soon they will be dated with another of like habits, looks and size.

Does Great Business

The date shop is doing a great business. Many students have met their match and quite a few are reported on the verge of taking the vow. Happiness reigns on Badger campus.

Aronoff is careful never to date tall girls with short men or a gangling youth with a ponderous piano punisher. "Dates that don't disappoint," is the motto.

His fee? None—he likes to see them happy, that's all.

PICK BEST SYRUP

CHARDON, O., May 12—A tri-state contest was being planned here to be held between New York, Vermont and Ohio to determine which of these states produces the best maple products.

The contest is to be held at the next annual maple festival to be held here in April, 1929.

SWEETHEARTS

AUTHOR OF "MY SON'S SWEETHEARTS," "CONFESSIONS OF A WIFE," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

Lynda Fenton, a singularly innocent girl, is private secretary to Ralph Armitage. Her father, a drunkard, tells her that her mother deserted them, and that all women have their price.

Lynda meets Emily Andrews, who cherishes a secret fondness for David Kenmore, Lynda's companion from childhood. Emily plots against Lynda from the very beginning. David tells Lynda he loves her, but she decides she doesn't want to be in love with any man. David is away on a trip.

Lynda's father, too, deserts her, and Claire Stanhope comes to live with her. Ralph Armitage meets with an accident, and Lynda goes to his home on business, where he is enthralled by her innocent charms. Next day he tells her that he loves her.

June Cleaver, who has annexed money, throws a jazz party. Lynda and Claire Stanhope attend, and so does Ralph Armitage. But Ralph is still an invalid, and spends the evening on a divan. Emily Andrews has written David insinuating news pertaining to Lynda and Ralph Armitage, and David, worried, hurries home. He arrives late at the party, where Emily subtly leads him to a view of Lynda's innocent efforts to make Ralph comfortable. He sees Ralph clasp her arm, and hears him curse when others interrupt them.

He rushes in, Ralph rises, then collapses. Lynda spurs David.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XLV

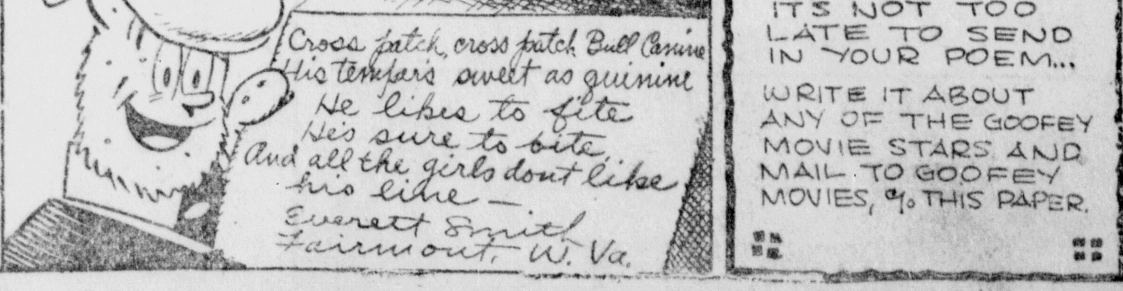

MUTUAL MISUNDERSTANDING

Claire Stanhope questioned Ralph Armitage's motives, and now that she had voiced her opinion, Hal Galbraith answered her.

"That is the trouble, Claire," he said. "The reason Ralph fell so hard for the little Fenton girl is because she did not run after him. Anyone would like to take them home? My car is right outside."

"Yes, Hal, I'm anxious to get back as soon as Lynda," Claire sat up with a jump that threatened to dislocate her spine.

By SIDNEY SMITH

The THEATER

NEW YORK, May 12. — A professional movie-goer's week:

Sunday—Universal wasted all its laudatory adjectives on the ludicrous "We Americans" and has none left to bestow on "The Man Who Laughs," which deserves them, and of which it should be proud. Conrad Veidt's performance is mechanically perfect, but hardly human enough to win him the popularity that has been amassed by the sentimental Lon Chaney from similar roles.

Monday—A great hullabaloo is being raised by United Artists over John W. Considine, Jr., a U. A. executive, because he is a Ph. D., the only one in the picture industry. Well, the sum total of the efforts toward the uplifting of the movies so far contributed by this prominent doctor of philosophy is represented by such matchless works as "The Son of the Sheik," "Kiki," "Two Arabian Knights," and the as yet unreleased "Red Tempest."

Tuesday—Dr. Considine, John Barrymore, a few other film notables, and some of the so-called critics were present today at a surprise preview of the Barrymore picture, "Red Tempest," in Vaudeville. It's in ten reels. Camilla Horn, the girl who stole the honors from Emil Jannings, threatens to steal whatever honors there are to the "Tempest" from Barrymore, who has the role of a Russian peasant soldier, minus for once—glory be!—wig, tights and strut.

Wednesday—"Glorious Betsy," with Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel, is more evidence that the "silent art" should be silent. The picture probably would be more entertaining without the talking and singing sequences injected by Vitaphone.

Thursday—An English company is preparing to enter the American field with a weekly newsreel series for home use, with the projector priced at $5 and the reels themselves, on paper film, costing twenty-five cents for 100 feet. Paul Bern, scenario chief of M-G-M, told me today that in a few years home movies will be upsetting Hollywood.

Friday—Monte Blue is here for a "rest," and he is on the go constantly. He tells me that "White Shadows in the South Seas," made in Tahiti by M-G-M, is going to start a cycle of South Sea pictures. He has the leading role. Most of the cast is composed of natives, with Bessie Love and Johnnie Walker as a fine picture that will not get the attention it deserves because it was made by a so-called "quieter" company, and will be neglected by the chains of theaters owned by the big producers.

SPECIAL PLANS FOR WIRE EQUIPMENT AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has announced plans for the Republican National Convention here in June, which calls for erection of equipment that would normally serve a city of near a half million inhabitants. Cost of installations and salaries to be paid the several hundred extra employees it is estimated, will exceed $150,000.

The telegraph company plans to occupy 2,000 square feet of the convention hall floor where it will employ a total of 100 telegraph instruments and fifty automatic printing sets. A 100 horse power gasoline motor will be placed in the hall so that it may be used to supply current for the telegraph wires in the event of a power breakdown.

Following the Republican meeting, the company will remove its equipment to Houston, Texas, for the Democratic convention.

"Virtually nothing can happen in Kansas City that would disrupt the world from reading the news of the convention almost instantly," G. W. Brownson, city superintendent of Western Union, declared.

Several cables will be installed and will be connected direct with ocean cables for European service.

The company plans to construct five branch offices at the convention site to care for increased business. Two hundred extra uniformed messenger boys will be used at the convention.

FOOR ADHESIVE GUM CAUSE OF COMPLAINT FROM STAMP USERS

Although new batches of two-cent stamps were on sale in a number of Ohio postoffices Friday following numerous complaints by post-office patrons and office boys that the two-cent stamp issued by the postoffice department had poor adhesive qualities, none of the new issue has been received in Xenia, according to W. E. Wike, assistant postmaster.

Complaints of the poor quality of adhesive gum on the back of two-cent stamps were forwarded to the postoffice department and bureau of engraving and printing at Washington. New stamps were then issued with the adhesive quality of the gum said to be better than on the old issue of stamps.

Many other cities throughout the state were selling the more adhesive stamps Friday, but Xenia was the exception. New batches of stamps received at the local postoffice Friday afternoon were of the old variety.

Mr. Wike admitted that a number of complaints have been received at the local postoffice about the poor sticking quality of the stamps.

EAST HIGH NOTES

On account of the inclement weather, the May dances which were to be held on East High lawn Friday, May 11, were postponed until Monday, May 14 at seven o'clock. Following this entertainment the boys' minstrel will be repeated in the auditorium.

The athletic association wishes to announce that Miss Melva Corbett, class of '28, was the winner of the popularity contest. She was crowned Miss East High for 1928 and presented the silver loving cup. Miss Margaret Harris, '30, received second prize a $2.50 gold piece; Miss Lillian Taylor, '28, third prize, $1.50 in currency and Miss Rose Murphy, fourth prize, a new dollar bill.

The receipts were as follows: Miss Corbett, $43.35; Miss Harris, $22.77; Miss Taylor, $20.18; and Miss Murphy, $15.00, making a total of $101.51. The association also wishes to thank all persons who assisted in any way in making the contest a success.

Mrs. Maria Johnson of Cleveland was the guest this week of her uncle, Mr. Robert Williams, E. Main, who still continues ill.

DISCOVER BODY

DAYTON, O., May 12.—The body of a man identified by police as Fred Monroe, 39, of Winchester, Indiana, found late yesterday on the banks of the Miami River, one mile south of Angelwood, with a bullet in the head and a revolver in the right hand, was being held for relatives today.

SPECIAL PLANS FOR WIRE EQUIPMENT AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has announced plans for the Republican National Convention here in June, which calls for erection of equipment that would normally serve a city of near a half million inhabitants. Cost of installations and salaries to be paid the several hundred extra employees, it is estimated, will exceed $150,000.

The telegraph company plans to occupy 2,000 square feet of the convention hall floor where it will employ a total of 100 telegraph instruments and fifty automatic printing sets. A 100 horse power gasoline motor will be placed in the hall so that it may be used to supply current for the telegraph wires in the event of a power breakdown.

Following the Republican meeting, the company will remove its equipment to Houston, Texas, for the Democratic convention.

"Virtually nothing can happen in Kansas City that would disrupt the telegraph service and prevent the world from reading the news of the convention almost instantly," G. W. Brownson, city superintendent of Western Union, declared.

Several cables will be installed and will be connected direct with ocean cables for European service. The company plans to construct five branch offices at the convention site to care for increased business. Two hundred extra uniformed messenger boys will be used at the convention.

POOR ADHESIVE GUM CAUSE OF COMPLAINT FROM STAMP USERS

Although new batches of two-cent stamps were on sale in a number of Ohio postoffices Friday following numerous complaints by post office patrons and office boys that the two-cent stamp issued by the postoffice department had poor adhesive qualities, none of the new issue has been received in Xenia, according to W. E. Wilke, assistant postmaster.

Complaints of the poor quality of adhesive gum on the back of two-cent stamps were forwarded to the postoffice department and bureau of engraving and printing at Washington. New stamps were then issued with the adhesive quality of the gum said to be better than on the old issue of stamps.

Many other cities throughout the state were selling the more adhesive stamps Friday, but Xenia was the exception. New batches of stamps received at the local postoffice Friday afternoon were of the old variety.

Mr. Wilke admitted that a number of complaints have been received at the local postoffice about the poor sticking quality of the stamps.

EAST HIGH NOTES

On account of the inclement weather, the May dances which were to be held on East High lawn Friday, May 11, were postponed until Monday of May 14 at seven o'clock. Following this entertainment the boys' minstrel will be repeated in the auditorium.

The athletic association wishes to announce that Miss Melva Corbett, class of '29, was the winner of the popularity contest. She was crowned Miss East High for 1928 and presented the silver loving cup. Miss Margaret Harris, '30, received second prize a $2.50 gold piece; Miss Lillian Taylor, '28, third prize, $1.50 in currency and Miss Rose Murphy, fourth prize, a new dollar bill.

The receipts were as follows: Miss Corbett $43.55, Miss Harris $22.77, Miss Taylor $20.18, and Miss Murphy $15.00, making a total of $101.51. The association also wishes to thank all persons who assisted in any way in making the contest a success.

Mrs. Maria Johnson of Cleveland was the guest this week of her uncle, Mr. Robert Williams, E. Main St. Mr. Williams still continues ill.
